New Techniques Used by Family Service Agency in Campaign against Alcoholism Here

Alcoholism---the disease that social workers sometimes call "a middle-class phenomenon"---is receiving a new kind of treatment in a new program at Princeton's Family Service Agency.

Through intensive, one-to-one counseling, the program reaches out to anyone with an alcohol problem, and this means not just the drinker, but the husband, wife, close friend, son, daughter, employer.

"We counsel the family or the friend, whether the drinker comes to us or not," says Paul Kurland, Family Service director and supervisor of the program. Betts Gabrielsen, psychologist with special training in alcoholism treatment, and William Rhodes, social worker with Family Service's Hightstown office, are the counsellors.

"Usually the family of a drinker is despairing--they've HAD it!" Ms. Gabrielsen explains. "We never thought it would happen to us, and we can't live like this any longer, and so on."

How to help the family cope, how to help the drinker deal with life in ways that are a lot more constructive than drinking--this is the assignment of the Family Service counsellor.

"So many myths, misconceptions about alcohol!" Ms. Gabrielsen says. "It's not solely a skid-row, wino in the gutter kind of thing--only about 3 percent of all problem drinkers are in that category. Close to 75 percent of the people with drinking problems are men and women with good jobs, nice homes, family, kids in college. And so many men and women are on the fringes of alcoholism and don't know it. We hope we can counsel those people early, and catch the problem in time."

In conversation and counselling, Family Service professionals skitter away from "alcoholic" or "alcoholism" as loaded words. "People with a drinking problem" is the bulky euphemism they use; one reason of course, is that the phrase applies also to people around the drinker. The spouse of a drinker has "a drinking problem" simply in trying to cope with the situation, they point out.

National Council on Alcoholism figures show that one of every ten drinkers will develop a problem the drinker can't handle alone. If there are nine million of these people, as there seem to be, and you think of their spouses and children, it means about 36 million people seriously affected by the problem drinker.

"The problem does not exist in isolation," is the way Mr. Kurland puts it. "There may be child abuse--often is. The drinker argues with the spouse, becomes withdrawn and communicates less and less. Use of alcohol undoubtedly affects job performance. Socially, the drinker behaves inappropriately, embarrasses the spouse, begins to lose friends."

Misconceptions lead a family to regard "inappropriate social behaviour" as alcoholism, Ms. Gabrielsen believes. "A Scotch before dinner isn't alcoholism. You must distinguish between social

Word That Fire Department Needs $6,000 More Evokes a Few Sparks from Township Committee

"A rather large over-run," Township simply didn't appropriate enough money in the 1974 budget. Mr. Nini says the Township did appropriate enough—if it hadn't been for the over-runs.

Mr. Nini had asked Committee's approval to transfer $2,092 from the road account to the volunteer fire company account to pay the Township's share of some unexpected 1974 fire department expenses.

"Too many of these have been coming in," protested Committee member Margaret Broadwater. "Can't we work out some way to know about them ahead of time?"

Mr. Nini told Committee the $2,092 brought to about $4,500 the Township's share of unexpected fire department expenses. Since the Township pays two-thirds of the cost of running the department, the overall over-run is about $6,000.

Charges itemized. The administrator explained, in answer to Committee's question, that $775 of the $2,092 was the Township's share of $1,175 to repair the floor of the Chestnut Street firehouse and the rest was for postage, fuel oil, telephone, duplicating machine supplies and so on.

Asked on Tuesday to comment, Borough Administrator Robert F. Mooney, Mr. Nini's opposite number, retorted that the

Mrs. Broadwater commented that all municipal departments were being asked to work on very tight budgets, and Mayor Jay Bleiman said, "This doesn't mean any loss of love for the fire department; it's just that we're interested in fiscal accountability."

Mr. Nini said he had already discussed the question with Mr. Mooney and would do so again before asking Committee to approve payment of the $2,092.

Progress on Traffic Light. The Township is now fifth in line for materials to build that Nassau-Snowden traffic light (See "Mailbox," Town Topics, March 27). Mr. Nini announced. Some months ago, the Township was 17th on a list of 62, so there is some progress, he said. According to state traffic officials, shipments of the scarce aluminum posts and standards are expected in two weeks, and the light itself may do its first blinking in the bright May sunshine.

What about the Valley-Harrison Shopping Center traffic light? asked Mrs. Broadwater.

Originally, Federal TOPICS money was to pay for this installation. Mr. Nini said he's been told that money doesn't exist any more. However, the state does have some urban aid money, and the Shopping Center light is in the traffic package prepared for the state by Mercer County's traffic engineers. Mr. Nini promised to pursue the light with the state's Department of Transportation.

Committee introduced the ordinance for $314,000 in bonds to finance Phase I of the north side of Community Park: grading, seeding, two ponds, an amphitheatre, parking and comfort areas, bike paths. The Federal Bureau of Outdoor Recreation will pay $162,300, Borough and Township will split the rest on the usual one-third Borough, two-thirds Township formula. Public hearing Monday, April 21.

The purpose of Monday's meeting—an extra one on the Township's municipal calendar—was to approve an amendment to the Stony Brook Regional Sewer Authority service agreement. The amendment allows Authority communities to proceed without Hopewell Borough.

At the moment, Pennington Borough is balking and Mayor Bleiman observed gloomily that still another amendment may be necessary if Pennington decides not to sign. Pennington is said to be skeptical of state promises to fund sewer collector lines.

"I hope there will be no costs at all," said Mayor Jay Bleiman. He added that he hopes for a compromise which will eliminate the need for further hearings.

MAN FOUND DEAD

Former Princeton Resident. Keith W. Johnson, a grandson of the late General Robert W. Johnson, once chairman of the board of the family's pharmaceutical company, died last week in his apartment in Fort Lauderdale, Fla.

His body was discovered by the manager of the apartment building on Sunday, police said. Death is believed to have taken place about 48 hours earlier.

Robert Johnson, a brother, told police that they had just returned to Florida from a boat trip to the British West Indies, and that they had had dinner Thursday night. There were no signs of violence in the apartment, but an autopsy was planned inasmuch as the cause of death could not immediately be determined.

Mr. Johnson's mother, Mrs. Eugene Gillespie, lives at 108 Edgerstone Road. Prior to her present marriage, she was the wife of Robert W. Johnson, Jr., who has since died.

AT COUNCIL...

Light April Agenda. Taxi owners and drivers are talking among themselves about ways to run a Borough-Township Senior Citizens transportation system—the successor to Crosstown-62—but Borough Mayor Robert W. Cawley said this week he doesn't expect them to be ready for action by next Tuesday's Council meeting.

Municipalities want an advance reservation system: the elderly customer would make a reservation 24 hours in advance for a ride to doctor, dentist or shop. However, some kind of radio service is necessary to handle changes in plans, the mayor said, and only two of Princeton's taxi companies have the kind of radio system officials want.

Council is also talking about possible renewal of the park and shop system, due to end its six-month trial period May 1. "It's been very successful in providing parking," the mayor said, "but it hasn't met our revenue expectations."

The new salary ordinance is also on Council's Tuesday agenda.

This Is Princeton

SCHOOL HEARING SET

On Budget Appeal. Is compromise possible on Princeton's school budget? A pre-hearing conference will be held Thursday, April 17, at 10 a.m. in the office of the Mercer County Superintendent of Schools, to explore that possibility.

"State and county want conciliation," said Borough Mayor Robert W. Cawley this week, "but I don't really know whether it's possible."

Princeton's school board has appealed the decision of Borough and Township to slice $258,700 from the $8 million

"Who's going to pay for this?" demanded Township Committee member William Sulphin at Monday night's Committee meeting. "Borough and Township are both involved: do we share 50-50, by the one-third Borough, two-thirds Township formula or on a per-pupil basis?"

Just Like Flowers That Bloom in the Spring, Speeding Tickets Sprout with MR-7 in Action

The MR-7, the latest ingredient in the Township police traffic arsenal, is giving speeders an Excedrin headache.

The MR-7 is a third generation, electronic, computerized radar device that is proving to be a wonderkind for traffic enforcement officers throughout the country. "It's always ready to go—day or night. It's a tremendous piece of equipment," said Chief Frederick Porter.

Since it was introduced three months ago in the Township, Sgt. Anthony Nini, Township Traffic Safety Officer, reports that police have issued 207 summonses for speeding. Only 131 speeding tickets were given out during the entire previous year with the old type radar device.

Sgt. Nini added that the MR-7 is in operation 24 hours a day "all over the Township" and that there has been "a marked improvement" on the part of drivers. "We're finding it harder to find speeders now; they're getting the message," he said.

Safety Is the Goat. He was quick to add, however, that he didn't want drivers in the area to think that police were lurking about waiting to entrap speeders. "We'd be happy if we didn't issue a single ticket," he said.

"It's not a matter of issuing summonses; it's a matter of traffic safety. We'd like drivers to think of this as a deterrent for the safety of motorists and of others."

Because the portable MR-7 (it can easily be held by hand) needs no setup or the stationing of an interceptor car, Sgt. Nini reported that police are able to patrol streets that they couldn't in the past with conventional radar—such as one-way or narrow streets or streets in residential areas like Birch, Leigh and Henry Avenue... "where we have always received complaints from residents."

He added that police naturally try to work the high accident areas of Route 206,

North Harrison Street and Alexander where a 15-mile an hour limit is in effect all the time.

60 in 15 Mph Zone. Hot-rodgers like to congregate in the Shopping Center and show off their cars, commented Sgt. Nini, who said that police had caught a hot-rodger going 60 miles an hour in the center Sunday night.

"We get most of our complaints at night," he said. "We intend to put a stop to that and this piece of equipment is designed to do just that. If the kids want to play the mouse, we'll play the cat." The MR-7 has also been effective in curbing hot-rodging around Princeton High School, Sgt. Nini reported.

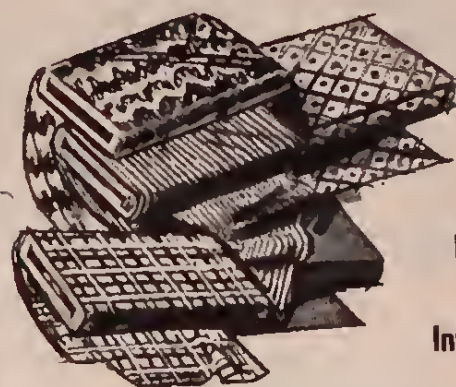

But even the 60-mile an hour hot-rodger pales before what Sgt. Nini said "was our highest pinch of the year." Police clocked a driver who had gone out to lunch and was hurrying back to work on the Princeton Pike at 84 in a 50 mile zone. "Can you imagine someone driving 84 miles an hour on the Princeton Pike?" he asked.

WOMAN DIES OF BURNS

From Cigarette Fire in Bed. An 80-year old woman who was severely burned in a Pennington fire last Wednesday night died two days later in the Crozer-Chester Medical Center in Chester, Pa.

Mrs. Barbara Grasston of 190 Blackwell Road had apparently fallen asleep while smoking a cigarette. She was carried from the burning bedroom by her daughter, Margaret, who was downstairs when the fire began shortly before 11 p.m.

Mrs. Grasston sustained burns over more than 80 percent of her body. After receiving initial treatment at the Mercer Medical Center in Trenton, she was flown by helicopter to the special Burn Treatment Center of the Crozer-Chester Medical Center.

Her daughter suffered facial burns from her rescue effort and was treated at the Mercer Medical Center and released.

Meanwhile, about 25 firemen, led by Pennington Fire Company Chief Michael E. Pinelli, responded to the alarm and kept the blaze from spreading from the bedroom to other parts of the two and a half-story frame house. The fire was brought under control in about 30 minutes.

Mr. Pinelli theorized that the fire smoldered first in the bedcover and that Mrs. Grasston was overcome by smoke. "If the cigarette had landed on her, she would have awakened," the chief said.

Mrs. Grasston was the wife of the late Louis Grasston Sr. She had lived in Hopewell Township for 50 years.

She is survived by a son, Louis Grasston Jr. of Trenton; a daughter, Miss Margaret J. Grasston at home; two sisters, Mrs. Margaret Cegledy of Miami Beach, Fla., and Mrs. Rose Popvich of Ft. Lauderdale, Fla.

The funeral was held in Pennington, with burial in the Fountain Lawn Memorial Park in Ewing Township. Contributions may be made to the Crozer-Chester Medical Center.

THEFT REPORT

Wallets and More Wallets. Apparently the victims think it won't happen to them but whatever the reason, the rash of wallet thefts continues unabated.

In two such thefts Thursday afternoon, a brown leather wallet containing $10-$15 was taken from the bottom drawer of an unlocked desk in Room 203 of Nassau Hall, and a wallet containing $3 was removed from a suede purse in West College on the University campus—again from an unlocked desk drawer.

A student's wallet containing credit cards but no cash was stolen between 9 and 9:15 Friday night from an unlocked room in Cuyler Hall, while another student in North Hall, Westminster Choir College, told police that her green leather wallet containing $3 had been stolen last week. She assumed it was taken while she was showering, police said. Her room was unlocked.

Earlier in the week, a graduate student lost $6 from his wallet and a $25 watch after his unlocked locker in Dillon Gym was rifled. A student in Blair Hall returned from Easter vacation Sunday to find that someone had stolen his portable TV set, record changer, $40 camera, $75 star sapphire ring and $75 cash. Police said that the lock to his room had been slipped.

Two other students away for the Easter holiday, Michael Goldstein and Martin Rogers of Princeton Inn Dorm, lost an electric guitar ($150), electric typewriter ($250), and stereo turntable, tuner and amplifier ($170). Again, the investigation by Princeton University Security and Ptl. Mario Musso of the Township revealed the door lock had been slipped.

While in her office in Valley Road School last week, Mrs.

Constance Vieland, 62 Snowden Lane, left her purse on her desk when she stepped out for a few minutes. Upon returning, she discovered her pocketbook had been rifled and her wallet lying on the desk. She lost $12.

$1,151 Transit Taken. A transit and accessory equipment valued at $1,151 were reported stolen last week from a construction site on Bunn Drive off Terhune Road by the Aponte Construction Co. of South Plainfield.

It was taken between 4 and 6 p.m. and had apparently been left sitting out, police said.

A bank money bag containing $150 and personal checks was removed from an unlocked desk last week in the Princeton Gulf Station, 246 Nassau Street.

The bag was later recovered in South Brunswick Township—minus the money.

PARKED CAR DAMAGED

By Vandals. A car parked on Terhune Road near Jefferson was damaged last month by vandals.

Police said that the ignition wires were removed, doors kicked in and the tail light broken. They identified the owner as Robert Bierman of 193 Grover Avenue. Sgt. David Potts investigated.

AGENDA LIGHT

For Township. An agenda lighter than springtime will greet Township Committee next Monday. The salary ordinance, including the Township's completely new salary guide, will be introduced, and Committee will receive the Planning Board's recommendation on the cluster sub-division ordinance amendment.

Garbage bids will be reported, and committee will take up a tabled zoning ordinance amendment.

DRIVER IS INJURED

In Turning Mishap. A 19-year old Levittown, Pa. driver was injured Saturday afternoon following an accident on Washington Road near Faculty Drive.

Donna M. Cole was treated at Princeton Medical Center for contusions and abrasions of the head which she sustained after her small car was struck in the side by a car driven by John R. Cecconi, 25, of Hillside. Police said that the Cole car had stopped in the roadway to make a left turn and just as it started to turn it was hit.

Both cars had to be towed away. There were no charges made by the investigating officer, Ptl. Peter Savalli.

FIRE CALLED SUSPICIOUS

By Township Police. A fire which occurred Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. Antonio Perna, 95 Leigh Avenue, is being termed "suspicious" by Township police.

Police said that a large chair cushion was laid against an inner wooden cellar door of the Perna home and set afire. It was extinguished by a patrol car. A general alarm had been sounded at 8:56.

No one was injured but the door and frame were scorched and heavy smoke filled the basement and first floor. Firemen used smoke ejectors to clear the house.

The investigation is being continued by Det. Norman Servis, the Township's arson investigator.

MEAT SHOPPER NABBED

Leaving Rear Entrance. A Robbinsville man was apprehended by two employees of Davidson's Market on Nassau Street Saturday afternoon when he tried to leave a rear entrance with a shopping cart filled with assorted meats valued at $111.92.

Police, called by the manager, said that the man, whom they identified as Earl C. Snedeker Jr., 23, tried to leave by way of a back loading entrance for employees when he was observed and caught. Among the items in his cart were 23 packages of frozen crabmeat valued at $59.82, four packages each of lamb chops and veal scallopini, five of veal cutlet and two London broil steaks.

More successful were two other shoplifters who escaped after visiting Luttmann's Luggage on Hulfish Street and Marsh's Drug Store, 30

Nassau. Both occurred Saturday afternoon.

Police said that a man accompanied by a woman took a brown leather wallet from atop a counter in Luttmann's and walked out. Police activated the Merchant Alert Plan.

Just before 5 o'clock, a man took a $10 bottle of cologne from a shelf in Marsh's and walked out.

MUSEUM VISIT PLANNED

By Historical Society. The Newark Museum will be the destination of the Historical Society's second spring bus trip on Thursday, April 17. Phillip Curtis, Curator of the Decorative Arts of the Museum, who spoke at the Society's lecture series this winter, will conduct a tour of the Museum galleries.

By special arrangement the group will see the restoration of the Ballantine House and of the Carriage House. These Victorian buildings, circa 1885, will be used as offices and galleries when the restoration is completed. The group will also visit the exhibit "Whaling Days in New Jersey."

The bus will leave the Princeton Shopping Center at 9:30 at the Acme Market end of the center. It will return about 5:30.

Cost of the trip, including transportation, admissions, luncheon and a donation of $5 to the Society is $15. Reservations must be made by April 10 by check to the Historical Society, 158 Nassau Street. The trip is open to the public, and membership in the Society is not required.

The third spring trip will be an overnight trip to Lancaster County on May 17 and 18. Call the Society for more information.

TEENAGER IS STABBED

While Sitting In Car. Lester Bethea, 19, 40 Leigh Avenue, has been charged with atrocious assault and battery by Township police after he stabbed Andre T. Hatcher, 17, 52 Leigh Avenue, early Sunday.

The victim was taken to Princeton Medical Center where 25 sutures were needed to close a slash wound of his left thigh. Bethea turned himself into police headquarters Sunday afternoon at 3. He was arrested and charged. He was released later in $2500 bail set by Judge Philip Carchman, pending his appearance in Township Court.

According to police, young Hatcher was sitting in a car in front of his home a few minutes after midnight when Bethea approached and asked him for money to buy a bottle of wine. Hatcher refused. Bethea then, police said, reached in the car window and slashed Hatcher with a knife.

The police investigation was conducted by Det. Samuel Bianco and Ptl. Mario Musso.

FOR HEALTH BOARD...

Varied Agenda. New garbage disposer units would be outlawed in the Township, if the Sewer Operating Committee has its way. An SOC letter urging a disposer ban will be discussed this Thursday at 8 p.m. in Township Hall when the Township Board of Health holds its monthly meeting.

Did You Pick Your License Plate Number? Sen. Martindell Wants to Increase Its Cost

State Senator Anne C. Martindell (D-14th District) introduced legislation this past week that would boost the State's charge for courtesy automobile license plates.

The Martindell bill would raise the initial charge for courtesy license plates from the current $10 to $50, and would set an annual $20 renewal fee where no renewal fee now exists. Based on Division of Motor Vehicle estimates that 100,000 courtesy plates are currently registered and an additional 10,000 are registered each year, Mrs. Martindell said her proposal could gross the State over $2 million annually.

"In a time when New Jersey faces a budget crisis that has forced the Administration to recommend cut-backs or eliminations of such programs as pre-school education for handicapped children and financial aid for the medical treatment of hemophiliacs and kidney disease patients, every little bit of revenue helps," said Mrs. Martindell, a Princeton resident.

The board will also hear a report from its health officer, Herman Lavan, on 12 dye-treated septic systems on Cherry Valley Road that are giving trouble to their owners and to the Township. The board will discuss the state's proposed new plumbing code, and policy regarding on-site sewers in the Township.

TO WORK FOR HOLLAND

Two Are Named. William J. Brennan III and Catherine L. McGrath, both of Princeton, have been named by Trenton Mayor Arthur J. Holland to run his Princeton campaign for the post of Mercer County Executive.

Mr. Holland faces Arthur Sypek and Robert Klein in the June 3 Democratic primary. Republican contender Harry Sayen is unopposed in his party.

Mrs. McGrath was a member of the Mercer County Charter Commission that created the new post of County Executive for which Mr. Holland is running. Mr. Brennan, Princeton attorney, is a former deputy attorney general for New Jersey and is known for his 1968 charges that some state legislators were "too comfortable with organized crime."

"I cannot in good conscience go along with reduced funding of vital programs and continue to use State resources to dispense courtesy plates at rates far below those charged by other states," she added. Pennsylvania, Delaware and Connecticut charge higher fees for courtesy plates than New Jersey does, she pointed out.

"Maybe the additional charge would make the courtesy plates more prestigious," Senator Martindell suggested.

Mrs. Martindell is also considering legislation to end the traditional senatorial privilege of controlling who may obtain courtesy license plates. The Division of Motor Vehicles could dispense the plates, she said.

HELP WANTED AT HOME?

Try a Student Rent-Free. Participants in the Princeton University's Student-Family Registry program will hold an open house Monday at 7:30 in the 1917 Room of Madison Hall (on Nassau across from Chambers Street). All students and members of the community are invited to learn about the program.

The Registry brings together students interested in exchanging some of their time and talents for rent-free, off-campus housing from families who need extra help around the house.

During the past year, 26 students--married, single, graduate and undergraduate--have lived with families in and around Princeton, acting as cooks for the elderly, apartment superintendents and car pool chauffeurs, among other things. Several of the students have found compatible family situations as far away as Belle Mead, Cranbury, and Hopewell.

The open house will provide an opportunity for interested families and students to meet each other, as well as to talk with present participants in the program.

Further information about the open house and the Registry may be obtained by calling Linda Ranney at 452-3461 between 9:30 and 1.

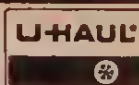

THE BEST NUMBER to call for classified advertising is 924-2200.

OBITUARIES

Lydia Webster Test, 74, 47 Deerpath, died March 31 at the Princeton Medical Center.

She had been a resident of Princeton since 1956, having moved from Philadelphia. Educated at Westtown School and the Moore College of Art, she was a life-long member of the Society for Friends and had served on the Educational Committee of the Philadelphia Yearly Meeting.

She was also a board member of the Frankford Friends School. She had been a board member of the All Saints Hospital in Chestnut Hill and active in the Germantown Hospital Auxiliary.

She was a founder and first president of the Chestnut Hill Garden Club and also served as president of the Hopewell Garden Club and the Princeton University Garden Club. In addition to gardening, she was an artist of considerable skill and a member of the Welcome Society.

Mrs. Test is survived by her husband, Alfred L.; two sons, Alfred L. Jr., of Philadelphia, and Edward W. of Indianapolis; two brothers, Edward L. Webster and John H. Webster; 14 grandchildren, and one great-grandchild.

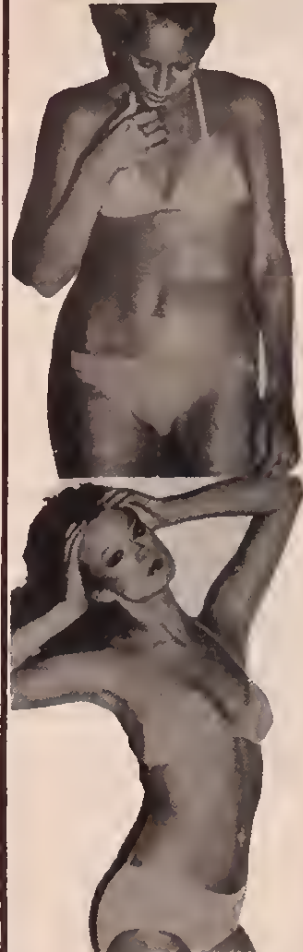

A memorial service will be held on Wednesday, April 9, at noon at the Princeton Friends Meeting House on Quaker Bridge Road. Interment will be at the convenience of the family. Contributions may be made to the Westtown School, Westtown, Pa.

IN MEMORIAM

Perhaps you sang a lovely song
Or said a silent prayer;
Perhaps you sent a funeral spray,
If so, I saw it there
Perhaps you spoke the kindest words,
As any friend would say;
Perhaps you were not here at all
Just thought of us that day.
Whatever you did to console my heart
I thank you so much whatever the part.

The wife and sister of the late Armistead Irving Robinson Mámie Robinson and Sarah Pemberton.

Fred E. Cruser Sr., 80, of 104 Wiltshire Drive, Cranbury, died March 30 in Princeton Medical Center.

A life-long Princetonian, he had lived in Lakewood, Fla., for several years before returning to the Princeton area recently. Mr. Cruser had his own plumbing and heating contracting business for over 40 years.

He was a past member of the Princeton Plumbers and Steamfitters Local No. 380 and the Hopewell Grange. He was also a member of the United Methodist Church of Princeton.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Elsie M. Cruser; three sons, Fred E. Jr. at home, John C. of Princeton, and Paul A. of Jenkintown, Pa.; a daughter, Grace A. Hiatt of Trenton; a sister, Mrs. Hattie Larking of Trenton; ten grandchildren and 13 great-grandchildren.

The funeral was held at the Kimble Funeral Home, the Rev. Edward H. Morgan officiating. Interment was in Princeton Cemetery. Contributions may be made to the American Cancer Society in Mr. Cruser's name.

Eric W. Mende, 83, of 44 Nassau Street, died March 25 at the Princeton Medical Center's Merwick Unit.

Born in Lunzenau, Germany, he was a Princeton resident for more than 25 years. He retired in 1959 from Princeton University's maintenance department after 25 years of service.

He was a member of the Princeton United Methodist Church.

Husband of the late Frieda Mende, he leaves no survivors.

A graveside service was held at Princeton Cemetery.

Anina Czarnecki, of 716 Kingston Road, died March 29 at Princeton Medical Center. A resident of Princeton for the past 12 years, she had formerly lived in Toronto, Canada.

Mrs. Czarnecki was associated with the Firestone and Marquand Libraries at Princeton University. She was an active member of both the Princeton French Club and Cercle Francais.

She is survived by her husband, George J. Czarnecki, an executive with DeLaval Turbine Inc.; a son, Mark of London, England; a daughter, Miss Barbara Czarnecki of Toronto; and a sister, Mrs. Irene Brudnicki also of Toronto.

The funeral and interment were private. Contributions may be made to the American Cancer Society.

Geratd D. Nelson, 82, a former Princeton resident and retired Director of Laboratory Services for RCA Laboratories in Princeton, died March 26 at the Sweet Brook Nursing Home in Williamstown, Mass., after an extended illness.

Mr. Nelson had lived in North Bennington, Vermont, since 1958, a year after he retired from RCA following 35 years service with the company. Before moving to Vermont, he lived here at 210 Elm Road.

He had served for several years as Chairman of the Budget Committee of the Princeton United Fund and was Chairman of the Building Fund for the construction of a new YM-YWCA.

He leaves his widow, the former Alice A. Acker, whom he married in 1925; two sons, William D. and Gerald D. Jr.; and a daughter, Alice Marie Nelson.

A memorial service will be held at a later date.

Jacob E. McQuate, 67, of 161 Washington Road, died March 27 in Princeton Medical Center.

Mr. McQuate was born in Lower Allen Township, Pa., and lived in Princeton for 20 years. He was a former resident of West Berlin, N.J., and a former employee of RCA for over 45 years until his retirement in 1973.

He was a member of the Princeton Knights of Columbus Council No. 636, West Windsor Community Association and was a former member and past president of the Berlin Township School Board.

He is survived by his wife, Hedwig. W. McQuate and a brother, James M. McQuate of West Berlin.

The funeral was held in St. Paul's Church with burial in Gate of Heaven Cemetery, Berlin. Contributions may be made to the charity of the donor's choice.

Dora B. Watlington, 83, of Cranbury, died March 29 in the Mercer Care Center in Hamilton Square.

A long-time resident of the area, she was a member of the Princeton Baptist Church at Peons Neck, and was the widow of Jones L. Watlington.

She is survived by two sons, Buck Watlington of Plainsboro and Gillie Watlington of Development Plan Ready

Formal presentation of Princeton University's 1,600-acre Forrestal Center Development Plan will be made to the Plainsboro Township Planning Board during a public hearing at 8 p.m. on Monday in the Plainsboro Elementary School gymnasium.

The development is proposed on land located around the existing James Forrestal Campus on Route 1, about three miles north of the main campus. It is bounded by the Penn-Central Railroad to the east, Plainsboro Road to the south, Lake Carnegie to the west, and both St. Joseph's College and South Brunswick Township to the north.

The plan envisions a multi-use development including office and research facilities, housing, neighborhood commercial facilities, and a hotel-conference center, according to John P. Moran, Vice-President for Facilities at the University.

ANTIQUES SHOW SET To Benefit YMCA. Seventeenth and eighteenth century Baroque music played on authentic instruments will set the mood for the sixth annual Princeton YMCA Antiques Show Saturday and Sunday, May 3 and May 4. Mr. and Mrs. A.C. Reeves Hicks, chairpersons for this year's show, announced that the Trio Hotteterre would present a special program drawn from 17th and 18th century music at the Patrons' Preview which introduces this year's show on Friday, May 2.

This year's Antique Show committee has been organized under Mr. and Mrs. Hicks, and will include 39 fine Antique Exhibitors covering the entire eastern seaboard. The show again will serve as a major means of scholarship income to the YMCA for youth camp membership and program subsidy.

Patrons are now being invited to sponsor the Show and participate in the preview which will include a champagne punch bowl.

The Show Committee includes Mrs. J. Taylor Woodward, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Sikes, Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Cooke, Peter Hodge, Arthur Abrahams, Ailery Graves, Mrs. Graham Rohrer, Mrs. Kay Mohrman, Mrs.

CHAMPAGNE AND CANDLELIGHT: The Patrons' Committee of the Princeton YMCA Antique Show prepares for the annual Patron's Preview on Friday, May 2. The champagne and candlelight affair will open this year's show, which will include nearly 50 antique exhibits. The show provides funds for the Y membership programs and summer camp subsidies to Princeton area youth. The committee includes, from the left, Mrs. J. Taylor Woodward, chairman; Mrs. Elric Endersby, Mrs. Hugo Hoogenboom, Mrs. Sidney Blaxill and Mrs. Gordon Sikes.

William Flagg, John Puckett, Mrs. Frank Darling, Mr. and Mrs. James Carey, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Stewart Allen, James Gregory, Elric Endersby, Mrs. Ralph Mason, Mrs. Jane Clark, David Geisler, and Mr. and Mrs. Walter W. Sorg.

Artists! Get Ready for Art People Party

What's your line, in art? Needlepoint or crewel? Do you work best with crayons or poster paints? Are you a watercolorist? Paint with oils or acrylics? Take photographs? Work samplers?

Whatever, if it's two-dimensional, it may belong on the snow-fence at the May 3 Art People Party. Get in touch with the Arts Council of Princeton, sponsors of the Party, through the Princeton Chamber of Commerce, 44 Nassau, 921-7676. Ask for an application blank, and try to return it by Wednesday, April 23.

You'll be asked how big your piece of art is, what its subject matter is, and whether it's collage, magic marker or photographic paper. To qualify for that snow-fence, it should have meaning for Princeton. Artists of any age may apply.

If you haven't yet finished your work of art, it would be helpful if you could tell, on the application blank, when it will be ready, and what and how big it is.

Snow-fencing is obtained on loan from generous municipal governments and the Arts Council has to know how many feet to ask for. It will be set up on the green in front of Nassau Hall, on Art People Party Day.

CAMPAIGN STARTED
For Old Eyeglasses, Jewelry. The Princeton Knights of Columbus Council No. 636 has announced that next week has been set aside for the collection of old eye glasses and jewelry for the needy. This program is a state-wide project of the Knights, with all items collected turned over to The New Eyes for the Needy in Summit.

Old eye glasses and unwanted jewelry should be placed in one of the containers around town or brought to the Knights of Columbus home located at 11 Prospect Street after 5 p.m.

ARBOR DAY APRIL 12
In West Windsor. The West Windsor Recreation Commission has declared Saturday, April 12, West Windsor Arbor Day and will plant trees in Van Nest Park and in an area between Hendrickson Drive and Hightstown Road. Oak, Linden, sweet gum, ash hickory, and tulip trees, as well as dogwood, crabapple, redbud, and Japanese cherry will be planted in accordance with a plan drawn up by a township appointed committee, the Grovers Mill Committee.

The Lions Club, The West Windsor Garden Club, The West Windsor Civic Association, and the West Windsor Recreation Commission have each contributed funds toward the purchase of the trees. Boy Scout Troops 40 and 66 as well as the Camp Fire girls have offered to help with the planting. Further donations of trees or labor may be made by calling Bernt Midland, 799-1642.

REGISTRATION BEGINS
For Boys' Art Class. Eva Kaplan's "Art Exploration" class for boys at the YMCA has begun to register students for the spring semester.

The class is an individualized, multi-media art program. Its emphasis is self-expression and exposure to today's trends in art.

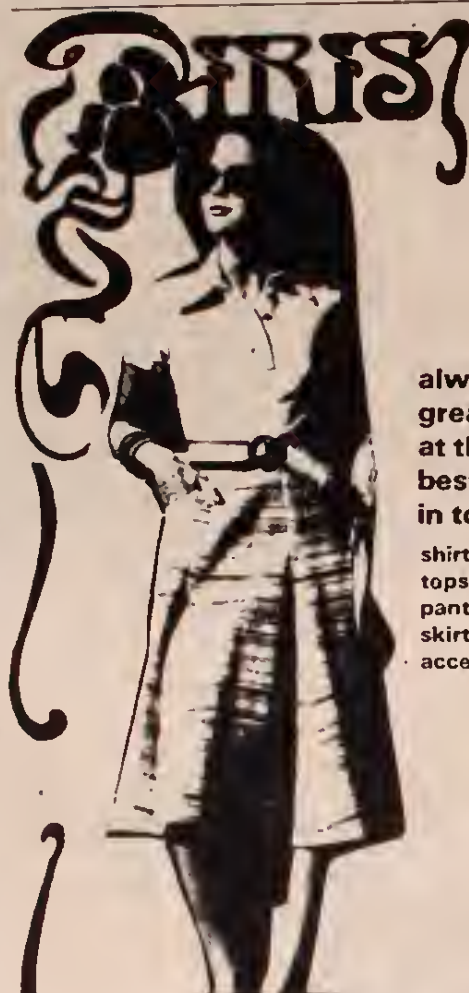

Choices in art activities include: drawing media, painting, collage, assemblage art, construction, clay sculpture, paper mache, mobiles, wall hangings, creating with light, puppeting and more.

Eva Kaplan is also the designer and instructor of the YMCA program "Discoveries in Creativity."

ROCKY HILL CHOSEN

For Film Program. Rocky Hill has been selected as one of 15 pilot communities to participate in an experimental film program developed by the National Project Center for Film and the Humanities. The program's goal is to provide greater public access to the humanities and increase understanding of the humanistic heritage.

The themes and individual films to be presented locally will be made public in the near future. Dates and screening locations will also be announced as soon as possible. Sheila Hess is the Community Program Chairman for Rocky Hill. Anyone interested in obtaining film guides or further information about the National Project Center and the film programs should contact her at 924-7073.

News Of The CHURCHES

TOWN MEETING CALLED

By Pennington Church Group, Christians of Pennington, Ecumenical (C.O.P.E.) have called a town meeting for residents of the Hopewell Valley next Sunday, April 13, from 2 to 5:30 at St. Matthew's Episcopal Church, Pennington.

The meeting, to be led by Richard Alton, director of the Institute for Cultural Affairs in Philadelphia, will deal with concerns common to residents of the valley, involving them in responsibility for the future of their communities.

The idea of Town Meeting, 1976, is being organized on a national basis by the Institute for Cultural Affairs. It presents a plan for using American bicentennial celebrations as a springboard for the future.

Mr. Alton has directed planning seminars for many churches and church groups, while also acting as a business planning consultant to such companies as Gulf Oil. He and the members of C.O.P.E. invite representatives from all churches and community groups in the Hopewell Valley.

HOURS CHANGED

By Lutheran Church, Prince of Peace Lutheran Church has changed its worship hours effective this Sunday, with the morning worship service moved to 11.

Sunday School will begin at 10 under the new schedule, offering classes from three years old to adult. The worship service will be followed by a coffee social period around noon each Sunday.

Also beginning this Sunday will be a series of Bible studies on the book of Mark led by Dr. Don Juel, a professor at Princeton Theological Seminary.

IS ANYBODY AT HOME?

Is Christian Science Topic. The healing power of a concept of home will be explored in a public lecture this Saturday at 2 in John Witherspoon School by Miss Nancy E. Houston, a Christian Science lecturer from Urbana, Illinois.

"Whether we live on wheels, whether we live in the suburbs, whether we're in a nursing home, a college dorm, in the ghetto," she will state, "in reality we take our concept of home with us wherever we go. So it's important for us to see just what our idea of home is."

Miss Houston will speak under the auspices of First Church of Christ, Scientist in Princeton.

CONFERENCE LISTED

Westminster Choir College will host a two-day conference of church music editors next Friday and Saturday, April 11 and 12.

The conference, planned by Westminster's Professor John S.C. Kemp, is intended for church musicians, clergy, choir singers, editors, publishers, composers, and educators. Speakers will include conductor and composer Leland Sateren, Handel scholar Alfred Mann, and British theologian and hymnologist Eric Routley.

Saturday's session includes an eight-hour anthem reading marathon in which the editors will present music they believe will stand the test of time.

RUMMAGE SALE SET

By United Methodist Women. The women of the Princeton United Methodist Church are holding a rummage sale this Thursday from 9 to 5 and Friday from 9 to 3 in the lower level of the church at Nassau and Vandeventer.

Half-price reductions will begin at noon on Friday, with pack-up commencing promptly at 3. At this time, purchasers may fill a bag of wearing apparel for $1.

The sale will also feature a "Treasure Trove" room with merchandise of high quality or almost new articles.

Antique Show Announced.

The United Methodist Women of Cranbury have announced plans for their annual antique show and sale on Saturday, April 26 from 10 to 5 in the church on Main Street, Cranbury.

Dealers from New Jersey and Pennsylvania, as well as local artists and craftsmen, will display their collections and talents. Admission will be a $1 donation.

NEW FIRM ORGANIZED in TV Communications. Douglas Video, a new direct television communication services organization, has been formed by S. Douglas Gratton, a veteran of non-broadcast television production activities, and Paul M. Douglas, of Princeton, long associated with innovative conference television. The firm has offices in New York, Princeton and Washington.

The new company is providing a wide range of services including video tape and film productions, contract video publishing, video tape and video cassette "networks," television for meetings and national and international conference television.

Mr. and Mrs. Douglas and their three daughters live at 48 Cleveland Lane. Mrs. Douglas is a broker with the real estate firm of Stewardson-Dougherty here.

JOINS STAFF AT RCA

From Research at GM. Dr. Edward G. Trachman has joined the scientific staff of RCA Laboratories at the David Sarnoff Research Center here.

NINI RENAMED

As Dealer Representation. Anthony D. Nini, president of Nini Chrysler-Plymouth, Route 206, has been re-elected to the regional Chrysler-Plymouth dealer council.

This is the second year in succession in which the Chrysler-Plymouth dealers of the Trenton district have selected Mr. Nini to represent them. He lives at 131 Brookstone Drive.

UNDERSTANDING SOUGHT

Of Free Enterprise System. The Business-Youth-Education committee of the Chamber of Commerce is attempting to help young people gain an understanding and appreciation of the free enterprise system.

Two committees have been formed. One led by Jane D. Wirsig of Educational Testing Service, is pursuing opportunities for placing students in area firms for academic credit or hourly wages.

The primary objective of the second, led by Edward Salkind of Astro Publications, is to develop a "Community Resource Roster" to be used by educators as a supplement to standard classroom learning techniques.

Goals of the Community Resource Roster are:

- Identifying people in business, industry, professions, civic groups and other areas who will speak to students.

- Encouraging companies to suggest ongoing programs in the schools such as the one The First National Bank has prepared for banking as a career.

- Providing school personnel with booklets, films and film strips by Princeton area companies and agencies.

- Providing tours or inviting students to spend time voluntarily during non-school hours in a company or agency to observe what actually occurs in the various occupations.

PRINCETON BOROUGH

Cute, cozy and convenient — these are the most appealing attributes of this new Borough listing. Pretty living room with big bay window (a perfect setting for decorative house plants), dining room; drop-down enclosed heated porch (with bookshelves added, a good study); smallish kitchen (but one that provides eating space and meets the needs of a gourmet cook); three bedrooms and 1½ baths — all are compact enough for easy care but big enough for small family comfort. Added assets are a big screened porch overlooking a swimming pool sufficiently screened by summer greenery for skinny dipping! The location is a nice one — a pleasant street without heavy traffic but within walking distance of Riverside School, the University, and the busline. Offered at $72,500.

Half a dozen bone china demitasse cups and saucers. Quite charming in their simplicity. Think they would blend with most any period.

Asparagus server. It's getting to be that time of year. English silver, really dramatic, has small sauceboat attached for Hollandaise sauce. Sort of a superfluous, but fun to use and own.

Full silver tea service - well, tea kettle on stand, complete with little burner, sugar, creamer, several handsome trays of various shapes and sizes.

A small silver box shape of a heart. Would it had appeared before Valentine's Day. But there are those who collect hearts. Those lovely little angels from the ceiling of the Sistine Chapel on cover. A real treasure!

Two very lovely nightgowns. From Louisseus of 1900. In original folds. So lovely, that sashed they could be summer dresses. Much hand work and embroidery. Made of fine batiste. Making one nostalgic for the fabrics of the old days before polyester and acrylic appeared on the scene.

Happy to buy wooden things of the type we sell, lap desks, little boxes, small trunks with intriguing humps, early iron, coffee grinders. Would like a sander, a footwarmer, a small spinning wheel, old white cotton blouses, nightgowns and high button shoes.

Picture Perfect Patio and Pool

...are just two of the delightful features of one of our very newest listings in West Windsor. This young and cheery colonial in a friendly neighborhood offers you close-to-Princeton advantages at lower than Princeton Prices. Spacious front-to-back living room, separate formal dining room, charming country kitchen with laundry room and maid's room nearby, full size family room overlooking the pool, and a handy utility-hobby room for the man of the house. Upstairs are four attractive bedrooms and two full baths. So easy to love and just a hop, skip and a jump from schools and everything.

Attractive Colonial in the Village of Rocky Hill

Situated on a wooded hillside almost right in the village of Rocky Hill is our newest Montgomery listing—a beautiful yellow Williamsburg Colonial. Inside, the layout is superb: spacious living room with fireplace, formal dining room, family room at the very end of the center hall, complete eat-in kitchen with convenient laundry room nearby, and a downstairs powder room. Upstairs, are four comfortable large bedrooms, one of which is a master suite, and two full baths. Downstairs, is a large activity center for sewing, silversmithing, and whatever hobbies you have. Situated close to a delightful park where counselors can keep the children busily delighted all summer long. Very liberal financing available to a qualified buyer.

On a Tree-Lined Street in Hightstown

Between one of the best private schools and golf clubs anywhere—just 20 minutes from Princeton—on a beautiful tree-lined street with prestigious old homes. Contemporary from the outward view but with all the warmth and charm indoors that solid superb construction offers. Inside is a large sunken living room, elegant step-up formal dining room, modern eat-in kitchen, and a separate den or library. Upstairs are three spacious bedrooms and two full baths. From the terrace the view is one of gorgeous private grounds for fun, beauty and lavish entertainment. Wait until you see the crystal chandeliers and Tiffany fixturing. Priced to sell quickly so call us before the open house.

Custom Built Dutch Colonial in West Windsor

If you come see this unique dutch colonial on the inside, we're sure you will consider living next to West Windsor's new high school, which this property borders on. Inside, are random width plank floors, wide raised pine panelling, custom pine cabinets in the kitchen, and a colonial spirit true to tradition. Downstairs, there's a master bedroom or guest suite while upstairs are two huge bedrooms. And, yes, there are three fireplaces to read by in all. Can you afford not to see this unique property?

$59,500

A Little House in the Forest

Located in the beautiful Griggstown area on two heavily wooded lots, it boasts a Princeton address, two-minute access to frequent express buses to New York and downtown Princeton fenced backyard, fireplace, finished upstairs with second bathroom and kitchenette facilities, 160 Amp service, full basement and separate one-car garage. Very attractive expansion and improvement opportunities. Owner transferred and eager to sell

$39,500

Liberate Yourself in This Unique Princeton Residence

How does a spacious three bedroom residence, all on one floor, and a 1200 square foot heated artist's studio in Princeton interest you...for about $200 per month? Unbelievable but true, for this new Firestone offering also includes a two-bedroom apartment and a one-bedroom apartment to help you pay for the whole mortgage. And all in one of Princeton's most desirable neighborhoods. . .convenient to everything. The possibilities of this property are limited only by your imagination; the large heated workshop is zoned for home industry—so use it for arts and crafts, for tinkering on antique cars, or just as an escape hatch for either of you. Have it your way, but call the professionals at Firestone now.

A Short Walk to The Country Club

Few homes near Pika Brook Country Club offer so much in colonial charm and variety as this Firestone two-story colonial located in Sleepy Hollow. From the plushly carpeted living room with massive picture window to the elegant dining room with chair rail one senses the possibilities for formal entertaining. Yet, from the neatly decorated eat-in kitchen to the conveniently placed family room with raised hearth and adjacent professionally landscaped patio, there is a sense of easy living near a fine country club. Upstairs, are four comfortable bedrooms, including a master suite. Perhaps you'd better see it soon.

$74,500

University Townhouse in Princeton

One of our new Princeton listings is a University Townhouse in Princeton, close to everything and ideal for a family that needs in-town conveniences. This older home with character, has a living room with chestnut trim, a convenient dining room and a completely modernized eat-in kitchen with washer and dryer facilities quite handy. Upstairs, are five or six comfortable bedrooms and two full baths. A clapboard gem with the charm of old Princeton.

69,500

Montgomery Rancher on a Wooded Lot

This splendid three bedroom ranch in a wooded setting in Montgomery Township is ideal for the young family starting out. It features a fireplace in the living room, a woodsy country kitchen, a separate carpeted family room or study, three cozy bedrooms and one and one half baths. Downstairs is a billiards room and bar, and lots of storage space for a workshop and what have you. Need we say more for

$53,900

A New England View of Hopewell

Up and away on the hillside above Hopewell and almost by itself is this spacious two-bedroom rancher that was built by one of Hunt and Augustine's fine craftsmen for himself. The kitchen is completely modern in all facets while both the living room and family room are sizable and well positioned for the view. Downstairs, is a garage and utility area on the basement, which extends under the whole house. Upstairs, the view is nothing short of breath taking: the whole village lies at your feet like a sleepy New England town.

This wonderful adaptation of a French Provincial house offers the warmth of the old and the convenience of the new. The gracious entrance hall and the beautiful large living room make entertaining a pleasure. The floor length windows in living and dining room and the corner fireplace in the study add to its great charm. Add to all this a large eat-in kitchen, a family room, curved stairway leading to five bedrooms and three and a half baths and you have an outstanding house for a large family. On a beautifully wooded one and a half acre lot. $135,000

A LOVELY TWO STORY HOUSE IN LAWRENCE: The first floor has a living room, dining room, hall, eat-in kitchen, family room, 1 bath and laundry. The second floor has four bedrooms and a bath. The house is centrally air conditioned and the yard has beautiful mature trees. $59,900 or Rent: $450-month

PRINCETON TOWNSHIP

Formerly the overseer's house on a great estate, this tudor has unusual charm, strength and liveability. A reception hall opens to a long bright living room with fireplace and leaded windows looking to the west. Adjacent is a separate dining room with doors to a raised terrace. The kitchen has just been modernized with new cabinets and appliances including six burner restaurant type range. Off the kitchen there is a comfortable paneled study, bar, lavatory and laundry room. On the second floor, four bedrooms, three baths, office or nursery plus a separate bedroom and bath for servants or income. Brick garage and garden house. All on almost an acre with a walled garden at the back. $142,500.

Pretty Brook Road and North Road. Rarely is land available in this pretty and special part of Princeton Township. Now we have a two acre lot part open and part in woods with a gentle slope which will accommodate various styles of architecture. $68,000

Hardy Drive - Near the Stuart School a 2.1 acre lot with huge forest trees on a quiet dead end cul de sac. Can be built on with a closed system until moratorium is lifted. $42,000.

Battle Road - This sturdy brick Tudor with slate roof and interesting half timber motif fits perfectly on this quiet sycamore lined Township street. Flagstone entry and center hall. Cypress paneled living room and dining rooms, small study, sunporch, kitchen. Five bedrooms, three baths, plus finished room and storage on third. Two car garage, new furnace. Lovely half acre lot with mature plantings. $138,500

Edgerstoune - Two and one half acres which will delight and challenge your architect. Huge forest trees, rhododendrons, frontage on Stony Brook, steep slopes. $42,500

Exceptional Williamsburg Colonial with gracious rambling architecture - every feature imaginable. Step down living room, study, dining room, kitchen, first floor master bedroom suite. Five bedrooms, three baths on second. Recreation room, billiard room, wine cellar, 3 half baths, 3 fireplaces, greenhouse. Most sophisticated heating and air conditioning systems plus burglar and fire alarms. Space for 5 cars in two garages. More than four acres in Pretty Brook area of Princeton Twp. with pond, stream, and extensive landscaping. $300,000

Stuart Road - Living in and around this spectacular contemporary has to be a daily adventure. Stroll across the entry bridge—four acres of glacial rock and forest trees blend marvelously with the natural finish and clean lines of the house. From the entry level with its private guest room and full bath, step into the living room and feel the light and height of the room—almost three stories tall. A few steps up from the living room is a comfortable family room with fireplace and bar, an adjoining dining room, and a fine spacious kitchen. The children's area has four bedrooms or three and a playroom, plus two baths. The master suite has a dressing room, full bath, and adjoining study. A third floor sun room, lots of glass, and numerous decks and balconies provide different views of the outside at every turn. Zoned air conditioning, fire and burglar alarms, two-car garage. $265,000

From Classic Ballet to Psycho-Motor Therapy Proves Fascinating Change for Mila Gibbons

The leap from classic ballet to psycho-motor therapy for psychotics is an exciting "jete" for Mila Gibbons, dancer, founder and director of the Aparri School of Dance, now on one-year leave to pursue her additional career. Glowing with enthusiasm about her new work in therapy, Miss Gibbons left last week for Paris to spend a month in research at the Salpêtrière, the renowned mental hospital. The Salpêtrière claims to be the oldest mental institution in the world, and the first to remove chains from its inmates. Freud studied there and the institution is today a great center for the training of dance therapists—which is the reason for Miss Gibbons' visit.

13th-century monk...! I may do the very, very slow movements of a traffic policeman—something the person has seen and knows." "I use my own judgment, but I never enter into areas where I might be working against other forms of therapy."

Dance as Social Therapy. This winter, Miss Gibbons spent two months at a New England center for rehabilitation following psychotic episodes. She conducted dance therapy sessions, group and private, and studied dance as social therapy, using folk and square dance for socialization, as a counterbalance to the withdrawal of the patient.

Daily body-conditioning was part of the work, also, used as a way of studying the effects of daily medication on the body, and also as a preparation for jogging and outdoor swimming. And finally, Miss Gibbons taught ballet, her old and true love, to show dance as an art and skill, with no other goal involved.

"Psycho-motor therapy is ancient, you know, and used in every civilization. Think of the tarantella, to cure the bite of the tarantula, the whirling dervish, the Philippine stick-dance in which the patient finally breaks into a sweat—which has, of course, therapeutic value."

"Music is of the utmost importance," she continues, "we use rock and roll, the classics, the tension relief of humming. Bamboo flutes from Thailand, on a record I have, evoke a kind of joy simply in themselves, and I use them to finish the session—happy little flute—the most joyous of instruments!"

True Progress. Results? Accomplishments!

"Results CAN be dramatic," Miss Gibbons has found. "A child who couldn't read because of emotional problems began to do so after three months of psycho-motor therapy. I recall a hyperactive child with whom I played circus: I stood at the center of a circle and he was the 'horse', running around the circle. He ran and ran and ran and ran...Until HE wanted to stop!"

Most of Miss Gibbons' success has been with men and women in their twenties. She has found this "the easiest group. You can more easily appeal to the cool, detached type, you can reach the intellectual type more easily at this age."

With the work in New England and in Paris, there will be a third area of study: the relation of medication to psycho-motor therapy, and when Miss Gibbons returns, she hopes to form a group interested in continuing this investigation. Her research is financed by a legacy from her sister, Hope Delarue Gibbons, and from funds contributed by friends.

During her leave from Aparri, Imogen Stooke Wheeler is directing the school. Miss Gibbons will return June 3.

nected directly with a hospital. Miss Gibbons also is certified by New Jersey as a "therapy program assistant."

Team Approach Preferred. "I prefer to work as part of a team," she says. "This is adjunctive therapy, and ideally there should be a team, but often I work alone. Much of this work isn't known to the medical profession."

When her "pupils" come to the studio, on their own, or referred from another professional, or when she visits them at home, they are encouraged to improvise on such themes as anger, grief, fear, joy.

"But many don't know how to improvise, so we give a theme. 'Obstacles,' for example. This may be a pile of chairs in the middle of the room—how can it be overcome? Or we put a blanket over a piano stool to make a tent or a cave."

"As a therapist, I improvise, too, asking myself what's appropriate for this particular problem? With an autistic child, I may get down on the floor and play roly-poly like a mother with her cub. The person who is frozen with fear—you must enchant, with pretty scarves and lovely music, playing Isadora! And using lots of love to win the person over—you cannot do anything that might increase the fear."

"For those who need a more intellectual approach, I use the simple positions of Yoga, or a western form of T'ai Chi which I've made up myself. After all, the positions of a

Outstanding Production of "Romeo and Juliet" Finishes McCarter Theatre Company's Season

ON STAGE AT McCARTER: Richard Backus as Romeo versus Jack Ryland as Tybalt in the McCarter Theatre Company's current production. The great romantic tragedy runs through April 6.
(Cliff Moore Photo)

IF YOU LIKE TOWN TOPICS, the best way to show your appreciation is to mention it to our advertisers.

With a "Romeo and Juliet" that delights the eye, ear, mind and heart, the McCarter Theatre Company brings its current season to a brilliant climax and conclusion. The play opened last Thursday and continues through this weekend.

There is so much beauty—and surprisingly, so much humor and charm—in this production that it would take Shakespeare himself to write a review worthy of it. It must be seen and heard.

"Romeo and Juliet" was Shakespeare's first big success, and though critics generally agree that it is not up to his greatest tragedies, it is surely one of his loveliest and most touching.

If there are imperfections in this production we were too entranced to notice them. We could only marvel at the variety and pace and sweep of it. We had expected to be put off by the updating of the action from the 1500s to the year 1866, and in theory we still question the wisdom of that. But only in theory.

concept of the play. And this is in a sense a "director's play" because there are so many elements to be orchestrated, from dancing and dueling and crowd scenes to the most intimate two-scenes, all fast-paced by the urgency of time and passion.

Basically, whether this lyric tragedy "works" for an audience depends on whether we are made to care genuinely and achingly about the two young lovers; and our caring must be in spite of some fairly silly behavior on their part. And while Shakespeare has given Romeo and Juliet some lines that can make us care, they must be spoken by actors with the right human qualities.

Kahn gives us such actors in Richard Backus and Maria Tucci. They do him, and

News Of The THEATRES

On stage, John Conklin's settings are not only magnificent to look at but perfectly attuned to the play's mood, and ingeniously practical. If Jane Greenwood's stylish costumes are momentarily jarring, they quickly come to seem at least appropriate, and finally perhaps integral to the weaving of a spell.

Directorial Triumph. As both Artistic Director of the McCarter company and director of this production, Michael Kahn deserves major credit for the evening's success. There are fine actors and we shall single out a few from the cast of more than 20; but Kahn chose them and obviously worked painstakingly with them to carry out his own

Shakespeare, proud. The balcony scene, which can be sticky in the wrong hands, is here an absolute delight, full of unexpected humor which helps enormously to make the lovers endearing.

Logical Sequence. A play is like a painting in which one color affects all of the other colors. Because we care about Backus' Romeo and Tucci's Juliet we care about all things connected with them.

We care how the duels come out (they are excitingly staged by Larry Carpenter) instead of seeing them as mere stage business; we care about Juliet's nurse, one of the best roles in the play and admirably performed by Charlotte Jones; we care about Juliet's parents, played with verve and style by William Larsen and Laurinda Barrett (who give us one of the play's most contemporarily appealing scenes when, with the best will in the world, they try to bully Juliet into marrying impeccably eligible Count Paris); we care about Juliet's bellicose cousin Tybalt and Romeo's debonair cousin Mercutio and the feud between their families; we care about Friar Lawrence not only because Tom Poston plays him so appealingly but because we understand and share his urge to help the star-crossed lovers by some unconventional means.

And speaking of means: because we see that Shakespeare, too, cared about these spirited but sensitive and vulnerable young people—cared enough to write some of his sweetest and wittiest lines for them—we can forgive him a plot which in other circumstances we would find unforgivably contrived. (That minutely-timed fake poison would be harder for us to swallow than it is for Juliet were it not that her soliloquy at that point is so moving, her imaginings of the cold tomb's terrors so convincing, that our emotional concern nullifies our mental reservations.)

As the play's "chorus," Prof. Daniel Seltzer strikes just the right note with his comments on the evening's sad proceedings: on the surface, philosophical, even somewhat detached; but with his actor's magic he makes us know that he, too, cares.

With the 40s of April approaching, this may be a time to point out that a kind of untaxable lifetime cultural capital gain accrues to those lucky enough to experience a production as fine as this one: all our future readings of "Romeo and Juliet" will be enriched by the memory of this one enchanting evening.

With "Sisypus", Harambee House Players will be back with their production of "Sisypus and the Blue-Eyed Cyclops" this weekend at Murray Theatre. Curtain time is 8 p.m. this Thursday, 9:30 p.m. this Friday and 8 p.m. on Saturday.

An illusory mind play, "Sisypus" was written by Garland Lee Thompson and first presented at Actor's Studio West in Los Angeles. It was also presented as a work-in-progress at the Negro Ensemble Company, starring Al Freeman Jr.

Harambee's production is directed by Niamani (Gwen Foster), a senior at Princeton University. She is artistic director of Harambee House Players, and project coordinator for the Frank Silvera Writers' Workshop in New York.

THE PEACOCK INN
20 Bayard Lane (Rt. 206) Princeton, N.J.

MORE FROM "THE PEACOCK TAPES"

Q THE PEACOCK INN has been a small hotel since 1912. Tell me about the guest rooms.

A. There are 17 rooms, some with full bath, some with half bath (no tub or shower), some with no bath. These last share hall bathrooms.

Q Are the room rates high?

A. No, not in comparison to others. Single occupancy rooms range from $12 - $18 nightly; double occupancy rooms from $16 - 20 nightly.

Q Where do your guests come from?

A. Literally from all corners of the world; Moscow, New Guinea, India, Europe, New Zealand, usually because of the University. Others are business men visiting the many research facilities around Princeton; or parents, friends and relatives of local residents.

Q Is it true that the Inn refuses unmarried couples?

A. Yes. The Inn also locks its doors at 12:30 a.m. (guests must be in by that hour) and generally encourages quiet halls and hushed voices.

Q Does the Inn serve breakfast?

A. No, regrettably, but there are several breakfast places within 5 - 7 minutes walking distance.

Q How's business?

A. Very good. Reservations are usually needed and deposits are generally required to hold a room.

Q Would I like staying at the Peacock Inn?

A. It's a pleasant alternative to modern motels; financial considerations aside, it's a lot like spending a night in Grandmother's house.

about
Lahiere's

LAHIERE'S
Princeton, New Jersey

AS LONG as most residents of Princeton can remember, Lahiere's has been at this spot, lit in lights like some old theatre marquee. By Princeton standards the three-story stucco'd building with brown shutters, the former Central Hotel, is not very old, maybe a little over a hundred years. Still the greatest jolt to the Princeton image in the past quarter-century was not when they put up the towering faculty apartments down by the lake or the Yamasaki "bike rack" (the Wood-Row Wilson School of Public and International Affairs), but when they took down the old red toile cafe curtains at Lahiere's and replaced them with a bold new floral. Lahiere's has expanded, overflowing into the building next door so guests can wait in comfort in the new white Normandy cave. The original Central Hotel dining room is the one with the bar but there are other rooms, upstairs as well as down, all with the best of flowers and little shade.

The Inn Book, authored by Kathleen Neuer and published by Pyne Press, Princeton, says nice things about Lahiere's. V-E-R-Y nice things. And you, too, will say nice things once you've delighted in the fantastically French cuisine; once you've savored a mellow clear wine from Lahiere's renowned wine cellar; once you've tasted a dessert delicately prepared by Lahiere's expert chefs. Step into a world where your pleasure is the first consideration. Lahiere's is THE place for tasteful French dining... nearby in Princeton!

The group will perform at Community Park School this Thursday at 3 p.m.

FOR "FOOD DAY"
Brecht Play Is Benefit. Bertold Brecht's "The Caucasian Chalk Circle" will be given in a special benefit performance on World Food Day, Thursday, April 17, at 8 p.m. in Murray Theatre. All proceeds from this performance will be donated to the Princeton World Hunger Fund. "The Caucasian Chalk Circle," in this Theatre Intime production, will not open for its full run until May 8. A community-wide fast will be in progress from sundown April 16 to sundown April 17, with services scheduled in various houses of worship in Princeton on April 17. The cast of "The Caucasian Chalk Circle" has invited the audience at the benefit performance to join the acting company after the play in food, drink and dance.

Director Katherine Mendeloff is using recycled materials for sets and costumes in the spirit of World Food Day. The production has been conceived as an ensemble work, with each actor playing several roles. Dennis Davenport has composed music for the production--and will also act; Kate Stewart has designed costumes--and will also act. Geulah Abrahams is movement consultant. Tickets for the benefit performance are $5 and may be purchased by mailing checks to Theatre Intime, Princeton University, Princeton, N.J. 08540.

THE BEST NUMBER to call for classified advertising is 924-7200.

FOR KIDS.....
"Sounder." The story of a black Louisiana sharecropper family during the depression, "Sounder" received high critical praise when it was released in 1972. It will be shown twice this Saturday--at 11 and 2--in McCarter's "Movies for Kids" series. The film is recommended for older children, not for the very young. In "Sounder," the father is sent to prison for stealing food to feed his children and his wife keeps together a tightly-knit family unit which survives poverty, hard work, loneliness and despair until the father eventually returns. Cecily Tyson, Paul Winfield and Kevin Hooks are featured. Tickets will be on sale at McCarter's box office starting at 10 a.m.

MOVIES
Attica to Allen. The spring film season at McCarter will range from a premiere (in Princeton) of a film about the Attica prison seige, to the latest Woody Allen production. "Attica," feature-length documentary on the 1971 New York prison tragedy, will be shown next Tuesday at 8 p.m.--the first Princeton screening of the film. Produced and directed by Cinda Firestone, "Attica" shows not only the riots, but conditions that led up to them. The director has used the voices of the prisoners, during and after the event, interviews with hostages and coverage of the official inquiries. Much of the footage has not been seen before: shots taken through the telescopic sights of state troopers, statements by the committee of invited observers (including Tom Wicker of the New York Times), and cut-ins from the 1972 McKay Commission hearings. Woody Allen's "Sleeper" will be shown six times next weekend: 2, 7, 8:45 and 10:30 p.m. on Saturday, April 12, and 7 and 9 p.m. Sunday, April 13. Next Thursday and Friday, Rescue breathing can be started in the water--as soon as you can reach the victim's mouth with your mouth, and you are able to stand with your head out of the water. Some experts can rescue breathe while treading in deep water. The first 10 breaths should be given as quickly as possible. As you carry the victim ashore, breathe for him or her at least once every 10 seconds. If he does not breathe by the time you reach shore, do not struggle to get him out of the water. Leave him in shallow water as you continue to breathe for him, since cool water reduces his need for oxygen.

COLONIAL LIFE VIEWED

In Seminary Films. Three films on the American Revolutionary period, one originally televised by CBS, the others produced by Colonial Williamsburg, will be presented by Princeton Theological Seminary this month in the speech studios in Stuart Hall. They are open to the public.

"The Last King of America," starring Peter Ustinov as King George III as interviewed by CBS News correspondent Eric Sevareid, will be shown Wednesday, April 9 at 8. The film deals with George's perception of the American colonies and the American Revolution.

"The Colonial Naturalist," to be shown at 6:30 on Monday, April 14, and at 7:30 on Tuesday, April 15, documents the American experience of English naturalist Mark Catesby and the background for his important work on the natural history of the New World from 1712 to 1719.

"Silversmith of Williamsburg" will be presented on Monday, April 28, at 6:30, and on Tuesday, April 29, at 7:30. The film provides a complete visual account of the art of the silversmith in 18th Century colonial life.

GARDEN

Amarcord. Federico Fellini's films have not always been the easiest to understand but he has never made a bad one. When one considers that Amarcord is probably his best and most accessible film of all, one has what the New York Film Critics Awards picked as the best film of all in 1974.

To Amarcord ("I Remember") Fellini reaches back into his fertile memories for an earthy, kaleidoscopic view of an Italian coastal town in the 1930s. It is an overall celebration of life. The town's collection of eccentric but simple, affable types are viewed more with mocking affection than a jaundiced eye. The film brims with earthy humor, compassion and a touch of poetry.

Though Amarcord records a complete year, there is no real narrative link to its multitude of well-played vignettes. The basic focus is one family whose adolescent son has grown up into such zesty, hot water with the pompous local Fascists while "Mama" confines battles and threats of murder and suicide.

With these and countless other characters as his puffy, Fellini has molded an array of wonderfully funny, steadfastly human situations --from outrageous school-room pranks to hilarious semi-seduction attempts.

Fellini's casting is inspired: there isn't a wrong face in his motley crowd. In the magic of his memory, he has captured every aspect of the human comedy. Amarcord is a consistent delight.

BRUNSWICK

Earthquake. The systematic destruction of Los Angeles unveiled in "Earthquake" is a triumph of technical skill. Spectacular special effects overshadow Charlton Heston, Ava Gardner and a large cast of stock types that are caught in a cataclysmic array of physical terrors.

Foremost of the special effects is a new process called Sensoround which sends low frequency vibrations into the audience during the major tremors. This is disaster drama at its most entertaining.

The plot is a little hokey but it is brisk, creditable and manages to hold one's interest between quakes. The cast of characters is skillfully and gradually positioned for the final, awesome quake.

Piano Concert Given in McCarter by Robert Helps Rated Uneven But Had "Moments of Excellence"

Pianist-composer-teacher Robert Helps was featured in the third program of the Princeton University Concerts, Series 1, at McCarter Theater Monday night. Helps, who currently teaches piano at Princeton University, included works by two Princeton composers in his recital: "Six Bagatelles" (1958) by Mark Brunswick, to begin the evening, and "From My Diary" (1937-40) by Roger Sessions, who was present in the audience, to open the second half. The "Sonata in A Major," D. 959, by Schubert, and a selection of six Barcarolles and Nocturnes by Faure comprised the remainder of the program.

Helps addressed the keys with flat, open, relaxed hands, whose graceful stroking motions pleased the eye as much as the sounds they produced gratified the ear. This approach served him well in the many lyrical passages spread throughout the program. However, the iron strength required in a number of other places, particularly in the Schubert, was often lacking. Rapid, loud scales and arpeggios frequently struggled to pierce through static chords and liberal amounts of pedal, and generally they fell short of real brilliance.

Brunswick's Bagatelles, six miniatures which present a pleasingly compatible variety of ideas, immediately displayed Helps' powers of lyrical expression. The opening Andante assumed a breadth not easy to fashion in a piece of limited duration and restrained sonorities. The ostinato figure of the third Bagatelle (Lento) was smooth as silk. The other pieces, all Allegros, conveyed a range of feelings, culminating in a furious "Allegro molto energico."

The Schubert Sonata was the largest single work on the program, and the least well-played. The lyrical and introspective sections were effective, but the big build-ups and sudden outbursts were not always satisfying.

A number of notes were muddy or missed completely, and heavy pedalling, while at times producing agreeable pools of sound, too often muffled rapid embellishment figures or even more critical notes on which hard-to-catch brought the movement effectively to rest. The reflective second movement was delightful; both the sweetly doleful song and the amazing improvisatory episode were superbly interpreted.

Helps' stroking keyboard style was most obvious and appropriate in the scherzo and trio, although the thunderous descending scale which abruptly rejects the path taken by the scherzo thereto, was outbalanced each time by the left-hand chord, robbing the passage of much of its violent potential. The final movement, an extended Schubertian rondo, assumed a very coherent form in Helps' rendition.

No reservations need be raised about the balance of the program, which was first-rate. Helps' performance of Sessions' pieces was expressive and secure. The first one was tender and lyrical; the second contrasted a restless, almost foreboding mood with a more peaceful one; the third was somber and the last was jocose.

But the Faure pieces were Helps' real strength. These heavily textured compositions are songs without words, fully developed accompanimental figures and singing melody, all on one keyboard. Keeping these elements distinct, yet equally audible and mutually compatible is no mean feat, but Helps gave no hint of the difficulty, while he accomplished the task magnificently.

In the Nocturne No. 4, Op. 36, he played a long scale in sixths, and other passages, all on one pedal, and it was beautiful. In the Barcarolle No. 9, Op. 101, figurative embellishment sparkled over and under the ostinato melody much more clearly than was usual in the Schubert. The Barcarolle No. 5, Op. 66, concluded the program, and here the big sound appeared as readily and convincingly as the more delicate tone had all evening. All the Faure selections were smooth and expressive.

The encore, which Helps modestly did not identify, was his own "Homage a Faure," and it reinforced the feeling Helps had already conveyed of his deep regard and affinity for the music of that composer.

CHOIR PICKS SCHUBERT
For Milbank Concert. The Princeton University Chapel Choir, conducted by Professor Walter Nollner, will present its annual Milbank Concert Sunday at 3 in the University Chapel. To be devoted on this occasion entirely to the "Mass in E flat major" by Franz Schubert, this yearly concert is sung to the memory of Albert Goodsell Milbank and Elizabeth Milbank Anderson. Admission is free.

The mass is scored for large orchestra (including three trombones), chorus and five soloists, and is full-program in length. The vocal soloists are all young singers who, nevertheless, have considerable experience.

harmonies shift Stringendo sections sometimes built up too quickly; one such place (at the end of the exposition of the first movement), for example, could have been spread out to attain its climax later, closer to where the music drops the listener into a sudden vacuum of silence. The intensity wore off when it had to be maintained too long.

The performance did have several excellent moments. The coda of the first movement with its sustained right-hand chords against detached left-hand notes

Music in Princeton

Betty Ann Berry, soprano, is a graduate in Music from Berlin Conservatory, and has been the principal soprano soloist with the Choir for the last three years. Contralto Jimmi Fulmer, a 1974 graduate of Princeton's Music Department, was principal soloist with the Princeton University Glee Club.

Lester Erich, tenor, is a graduate student member of the Westminster Choir, and has appeared frequently along the Atlantic seaboard as soloist in sacred oratorios. Gary Imhoff, also a tenor, is principal tenor soloist with the Chapel Choir and formerly a student at the New England Conservatory.

Allan Mayers, bass, graduated from Princeton in 1954, and is now a staff member of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, spending this year in Princeton as Mid-Career Fellow at the Woodrow Wilson School.

An orchestra of some 45 members will supply the accompaniment. Made up for the most part of Princeton undergraduate players of professional caliber, the orchestra will be led by Anthony Elias, Class of 1976, as concertmaster.

MUSIC CLUB TO MEET

Wednesday in Pennington. The Music Club of Princeton will meet next Wednesday at 8:30 at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Giuliano Gorelli in Pennington.

Two "Deutsche Arien" by Handel will be first on the program, followed by a song cycle, "Silhouettes," by Olga Gorelli. The performers will be Peter Cook, clarinet; Olga Gorelli, harpsichord and piano; Laura Hayes, soprano; and Elizabeth Lam, cello.

Mrs. Lamb and Mrs. Gorelli will then play the Debussy Sonata for cello and piano. Next on the program will be "Chansons Gaillardes" by Poulenc, sung by Fadlou Shehadi, baritone, accompanied by Arlene Jones. To conclude the program, Arlene

Jones and Mario Rian will play Schubert's Fantasie in F minor, piano duet, Opus 103.

QUARTET TO PERFORM

With Trenton Soloist. The Jewish Community Center of Trenton will present in concert the widely-acclaimed Cleveland Quartet accompanied by soloist Lois Shaffer on Saturday, April 12, at 8:30 in the Community Center at 999 Lower Ferry Road, Trenton.

The program will consist of Adagio and Fugue K. 546 by Mozart; String Quartet, Op. 135, by Beethoven; and Piano Quartet by Dvorak. Tickets cost $4.50 and are available by writing the Jewish Community Center or by calling 883-9550.

Of the Cleveland Quartet, New York Times critic Harold Schonberg wrote: "This is one of the finest quartets in practice...each player is a top instrumentalist, and each meshes beautifully with the other...They have been playing together only since 1969, and considering the short period of its existence, the sky's the limit."

And the London Daily Telegraph called them "the most gifted of its kind America has yet produced."

The group's first album of the complete string quartets of Brahms gained instant acclaim: Best of the Year awards from Time Magazine and Stereo Review, and a Grammy nomination that resulted in the Quartet's appearance on the CBS-TV Grammy Awards Special (the first appearance ever by classical performers).

Lois Shaffer, resident of Trenton, has appeared often in the Princeton area in solo recitals, chamber music concerts and soloist with orchestra.

ORGAN CONCERT SUNDAY

At Lawrenceville School. Marcel Dupre's famous organ sequence "Le Chemin de la Croix" (The Way of the Cross) will be presented Sunday evening at 7 in the Edith Memorial Chapel at The Lawrenceville School.

Marilois Kierman, the organist, is a member of the school's music department. In addition, abridged versions of Paul Claudel's poem-cycle will be read and Suki Cohen, Sherry Alban, Gail Wilson, Cheryl Hendrickson, and Penny Kington, members of the Princeton Ballet Society, will interpret portions of the music in dance.

Mrs. Kierman is a graduate of the Juilliard School and has her master's degree in music and organ from American University. Her husband, Dr. Frank A. Kierman, professor of history at Rider College, will read the versions of Paul Claudel's poems.

"Le Chemin de la Croix" had its first performance at Brussels in 1931.

LIBRARY TO BENEFIT

From Concert. The public is invited to attend a concert that will be presented by Olga Gorelli, pianist and harpsichordist, Elizabeth Lamb, cellist, and Everett J. Shaw, flutist, Sunday afternoon, April 13, at 4:30 at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Giuliano Gorelli, Scotch Road, Hopewell Township.

The program is for the benefit of the Pennington Public Library. Donations will be accepted by library aides and refreshments will be served.

Featured on the program will be music by Bach, Mozart, Debussy, Flashman and Gorelli.

PIANIST IN CONCERT

Graduate Student to Play. Bjorn Jahren, pianist, will give a concert at Woolworth Center Friday, April 11, at 8:30, sponsored by the Friends of Music.

The program will be: Beethoven, Sonata in A-flat Opus 110; Schumann, Symphonic Etudes, Opus 13; Ginastera, Sonata and Norwegian music.

Mr. Jahren is Norwegian and studied mainly at the Conservatory of Oslo. He gave a number of concerts in Oslo and other Norwegian towns. He is now a graduate student in mathematics at Princeton and is studying piano with Jacob Lateiner in New York. The concert is free and open to the public.

BACH TO BE PLAYED

At Chapel Concert. The third organ concert at Princeton University commemorating Albert Schweitzer will be given in the University Chapel on Sunday, April 13, at 7. Roger Ruckert '77, University Organist, will play an all-Bach program. The concert is open to the public and admission is free.

Mr. Ruckert has played the organ for nine years, studying mostly with Claire Coci. He has played extensively in New York City, including St. Paul the Apostle, St. Paul's Chapel at Columbia University, St. George's Church, and most recently, Fifth Avenue Presbyterian Church. He won the 1972 Jane Whittemore Competition, and was co-winner of the 1973 High School Competition.

IT'S NEW To Us

SPECIAL SALE SET
To Mark Store's 10th Year. A 10th anniversary is certainly something worth celebrating, and Liz Benedik has made some elaborate plans for this event at House of Treasure Antiques. All this week the staff will all be dressed in costumes from the store, refreshments will be served and best of all there will be many special buys. House plants are all 25 percent off, a collection of spoon rings is $3, and penny bubblegum machines will be sold with a free supply of gum

ANNIVERSARY MARKED: Dressed in costume, the staff of House of Treasure Antiques prepares to serve tea in celebration of the store's 10th anniversary. Left to right are Jack Nester, Alexa Benedik, Mildred Divins, Ruth Yerdin and owner Liz Benedik.

(about 700 pieces), $45. We also liked the many Throughout the store there are dome-top trunks; an oak and special red tags, many of wicker full-sized spindle crib, which are mentioned in the ad c. 1840, $150; and the lacy hand-wrought-iron parlor stoves which today make perfect decorator tables or plant pedestals, $40 to $50.

One of the nicest things about House of Treasure Antiques is that in among the period pieces you can find many small, easily affordable, things. We saw oval wooden sewing basket in a Benedik's daughter and a natural finish, $10; oak hat racks (could hold coats too) from $30; pretty individual sets, $35 and several wash-bowls. If something intrigues you but you just can't visualize it at home, Alexa (Mrs. Benedik's daughter and a recent design school graduate) will help you place cups for that morning break, cost. House of Treasure Antiques, located on Route One at the Princeton Circle, is open Tuesday through Sunday from 11 to 5.

While age is generally one of the criteria employed in judging an antique, it is not always essential. Mrs. Benedik mentioned that progress can quickly outdate something and turn it into a collector's item. For example, she currently has a 1908 Edison cylinder phonograph with a handsome large red horn, $150 complete with several cylinders.

For Nostalgia Lovers. If you are a nostalgia lover, there is a working Hires Root Beer barrel in perfect condition, $95, or a three-piece set of wicker porch furniture (so hard to find nowadays), $225.

But, if your interests go further back to the Victorian era, you might want to look at the oval-back parlor set consisting of two side chairs and a sofa which House of Treasure Antiques has recently re-upholstered in red velvet, $750. There is also a marvelous solid brass and copper piano lamp topped with a blue glass dome. This heavy piece is adjustable in height and has been discreetly converted to electricity, $150.

The last few years have witnessed an increased interest in all things from the Orient, and Mrs. Benedik is fortunate in having some handsome teak and rosewood furniture. There is a large round coffee table, a slant-top desk, and a set of four snack tables all of which have been deeply carved with an elaborate design of knights, pagodas and trees, approximately $300 and up.

This Oriental collection also includes three silk bedspreads and matching pillow shams elaborately hand embroidered. The red one has a large white peacock surrounded by flowers while the deep blue one is covered with colorful butterflies, $100 each.

Louis XV Clock Set. Possibly most outstanding item in the store is a bronze and porcelain Louis XV clock set. Recently acquired from a Princeton estate, it includes two side urns and would be handsome on a mantel, $750.

Do you have that tired, let-down feeling...or perhaps unwanted inches or pounds? We'd like to help you.

The perfect solution to such a problem has finally arrived

Your Lawn Is Calling

Golfers, tennis players and any other homeowner who want a good looking lawn, but not all the work involved, should consider giving Richard Treadwell of Lawn King of Princeton a call.

Mr. Treadwell's organization offers a complete, four-season service to institutional and commercial as well as residential customers, that is guaranteed to build and maintain a healthier lawn. The service includes seeding, fertilizing, controls for insects, weeds and fungus, and the turf is also aerated and rolled.

The annual program consists of four treatments plus four quality checks, eight visits in all from now until fall at a cost of 3½ cents a square foot with a 4,000 square foot minimum.

Mr. Treadwell emphasizes that any lawn that suffers any damage while under his annual program will be repaired at no additional cost. He can be reached at 924-6375.

with Mrs. Irene Klotz-Boccanfuso's new business Dial-A-Gift. By discussing a person's interests, size and possible hints, Mrs. Boccanfuso and you can decide on the type of gift you would like to give.

With four children and a husband, she is well aware of the many pitfalls of gift-giving, and she tries her best to steer clear of these. From experience she knows that "many women have a closet full of unwanted things." She said, "After all if you're trying to lose weight, you don't need a full skirt or 10 pounds of chocolates."

With the help of Mrs. Jean Negron she will not only purchase the present, but also wrap and deliver it. Throughout everything there is a personal touch. For instance, Mrs. Boccanfuso doesn't just tie a ribbon around a present, but adds a fresh flower or special card.

A native of Dresden, East Germany, she says, "Maybe I'm just too sentimental as an European, but I like the little touches."

Children's Parties. Another aspect of her new business is the organizing and running of children's parties. This pretty blond woman, the wife of Township Police Detective Frank Boccanfuso, operated a day nursery from their home for 18 years, and it would be hard to find a more experienced person anywhere.

For a busy working mother this is just the way to see that your child still has a memorable party. All you need do is supply the cake and children. Mrs. Boccanfuso takes over from there, supervising the fun and games in her large playroom and yard.

For both services the fee is flexible, depending upon specific details. If you are interested, call her at 924-0219 or Mrs. Negron at (201) 329-2187.

CHRISTO PREVIEWED
By Museum Friends. An exhibit devoted to the controversial "Oceanfront Project" of environmental artist Christo will be previewed by the Friends of the Art Museum, Princeton University, at a reception for members on Saturday from 8:30 to 11.

Mrs. Carl Reimers and Mrs. Pieter Fisher are co-chairman for the event—an informal "wine and cheese opening."

The exhibit, which opens to the public on Sunday, documents one of Christo's widely publicized, vast outdoor projects—the covering in August, 1974, of King's Beach Cove in Newport, R.I., with 14,800 square yards of polypropylene fabric, floating on the sea and attached to 42 anchors. The project was part of an exhibition of outdoor sculpture entitled "Monumenta", held in Newport from August to October, 1974, under the direction of Professor Sam Hunter and his graduate students in Princeton's Art and Archaeology Department.

The coastline wrap-up was dismantled after eight days, but a complete and careful record was kept in photographs, drawings, slides, collages and videotape. These items will comprise the exhibit and give the viewer insights into Christo's otherwise hard-to-see art, and his theories about the "temporary monument."

In other projects, Christo has wrapped Chicago's Museum of Contemporary Art with 10,000 square feet of heavy tarpaulin, wrapped a mile long stretch of Australia's coast, and stretched a million square feet of fabric across the Grand Canyon.

"Running Fence." His latest project, "Running Fence," has recently been in the news. His plans to build a $1 million 18-foot tall fabric fence across 25 miles of two northern California counties won the approval of the Sonoma County Board of Supervisors. He hopes to build it—and tear it down—by late summer.

Guests at Saturday evening's opening will also view the exhibit of Miro prints, loaned anonymously, and now on display in the Museum's Morton Gallery. Student Friends of the Art Museum have also been invited to the opening. Invitations or membership cards will be requested for presentation at the door.

Friends Art Trip. Union Church in Pocantico Hills, New York, site of the stained glass windows by Marc Chagall and Henri Matisse, will be visited on a day art trip of the Friends of the Art Museum, Princeton University, on Tuesday, April 15. The trip by chartered bus will also include a picnic luncheon on the estate grounds of the Storm King Art Center.

Cost of the trip, which is open to members and guests, is $20, including a tax-deductible contribution to the Friends. Information can be obtained by calling Mary Wisnovsky at the Art Museum (452-3762).

CLASSES, SHOWING SET
At Loft Gallery. A reception for Pat Lafferty and James Edwards, two of twelve area artists whose work is being shown this month at the Loft Gallery Center for the Arts, will be held Saturday from 2 to 5 at the Center, 306 Alexander Street. The public is invited.
The Loft Gallery is also offering four courses in fine arts and one in commercial art beginning the week of Mrs. Lafferty, who will be at the reception this Saturday, lives and works in Rumson, specializing in watercolors filled with moving images of great vitality. Mrs. Lafferty paints seascapes, landscapes and abstract compositions.

Mr. Edwards, a Princeton resident, paints in oils and temperas to depict imaginative scapes in the style of gentle surrealism. A frequent theme of his work involves delicate women placed within unusual, surreal surroundings. The works of these and other artists may be seen Tuesday through Saturday, from 9 to 5, and evenings by appointment.

ISRAELI ART ON VIEW
At Princeton Home. Joel Rohr, an Israeli kibbutz artist, will visit Princeton on Saturday as the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Witonsky. He will exhibit his work from 6 to midnight, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Witonsky, 600 Lake Drive. The public is invited to attend.

Proceeds of the sales will benefit the Hadassah Medical Organization, through the Princeton Chapter of Hadassah. Mr. Rohr's exhibit will feature oil paintings, water colors and serigraphs depicting scenes in Israel, its people and landscapes.

A highlight will be a series of oils portraying many of the 650 citizens of Kibbutz Kfar Menachem, Israel's second cooperative settlement of American pioneers, where Mr. Rohr and his physiotherapist wife, Etta, live and work. His son, Heski, is a scout in the Armoured Division of Israel's Defense Forces.

He has published a book of Israeli landscapes and people, dedicated to the seven children killed in the kibbutz, including his daughter, Naomi. For more information, please call Mrs. Witonsky, 921-3680.

ENGRAVINGS FEATURED
In Hightstown Show. A showing of new incised drawings and wood engravings by Stefan Martin will be held April 5 through April 26 at the Reed House, 200 North Main Street, Hightstown from 10 to 5 Monday thru Saturday. A wine and cheese party to meet the artist will be held on Saturday from 6 to 8.

Stefan Martin is Vice President of the Society of American Graphic Artists, and a member of the American Color Print Society, Philadelphia Print Club, International Graphics Arts Society, and the Hunterdon County Art Center. He is also the subject of a film produced by Channel 52. His museum representations include the New York Metropolitan and Modern Art Museums, Philadelphia Museum, Library of Congress, Smithsonian Institute, and the New Jersey State Museum.

Clubs and Organizations

The Women's Division of the Princeton Jewish Center, 435 Nassau Street, will present a program for husbands and wives next Wednesday at 8:15 entitled "Communication Between Spouses." The program will be led by Pat Murphy, a marriage and sex counsellor, who is affiliated with Rutgers University and maintains a private practice in Pennington. Techniques used in marital counselling will be explained and demonstrated. Fredric Lowe, also a marriage counsellor, will participate in the presentation.

Hostesses for the evening are: Mrs. Betty Hurwitz, Mrs. Marian Tesser, and Mrs. Martha Rossman.

The Princeton YMCA Chess Club meets Tuesday nights in the Y library. There are players of all ages, beginners as well as experienced, both men and women. Activities include a club rating system, informal instruction, and others in the planning stage.

Deborah Hospital Chapter of Princeton will meet Tuesday at 8 in the First National Bank of Central New Jersey, on Route 518 off Highway 206 in Rocky Hill.

A short business meeting will be followed by a film called "Better Odds for Longer Life", given by the Mercer County Heart Association. The public is invited and refreshments will follow.

The Princeton Area Alumnae Club of the Alpha Chi Omega Sorority will meet Monday at 8 in the home of Mrs. Marion Durgom, 53 Knoll Drive.

FASHIONS BY BILL BLASS: Mrs. Owen Desmond III, Mrs. M. John O'Donoghue, Mrs. Harold S. Erdman and Mrs. Ernest Gordon, left to right, have been named co-chairman of the April Annual, a lunch and fashion show planned April 29 for the benefit of the New Jersey Neuro-Psychiatric Institute. The women are preparing a program that will include designer Bill Blass, who will comment on his Coty Award winning fashions. Tickets at $8.50 each are available through Mrs. Raymond Woodrow, 17 Rosedale Road.

New officers will be elected for the coming year. The club will also be honoring those women who have been members of Alpha Chi Omega for 50 years or more. For more information, call Mrs. Christine Winkler at 586-6998.

The next Drop In at Bet-Am will be held Monday at 1 at the Bet-Am located next to the Jewish Center on Nassau Street.

Rabbi Matt will speak. Miss Martha Cox, home service advisor for Public Service Electric and Gas, will discuss "Good Food Management for the Mini Family." Bring your favorite recipe for one or two persons, or a suggestion to share.

Dr. Gordon Ascher, Director of the Bureau of Assessments and Evaluation for the New Jersey State Department of Education will speak to the Women's College Club on Monday at 1:30 at All Saints Church. His topic will be "Educational Assessment: Planning for Change."

Dr. Jerome A. Weisbrodt, Associate Division Director for Higher Education and Career Program for Educational Testing Service and Director of a Satellite Operation Center, where Educational Assessment Program was developed, will also be present to answer questions. Guests are welcome.

Maria Loch will give a talk on the subject "Decorating with House Plants" at the West Windsor Garden Club, Monday at 7:45 at the Dutch Neck School. The public is invited.

The Montgomery Woman's Club's annual meeting will be held Thursday at 8:15 in the Berrien Room of the Rocky Hill Branch of the First National Bank of Central New Jersey.

Business will include announcement of Achievement Day winners for the fourth district of the New Jersey State Federation of Women's Clubs. First prize went to Mrs. Richard Schwartz for hand-crafted ceramics, and a first place to Mrs. Gordon McKiernan in the pickles and relishes cooking category.

Hostesses for the evening are Mrs. George Scholes, Mrs. Robert Smallacombe, Mrs. Donald Thiel, Mrs. James Tietjen and Mrs. Laurence May, chairman.

Lawrence Township Senior Citizen Club 2 will meet at American Legion Hall 414 on Tuesday. All Senior citizens 60 years or over are invited. Refreshments will be served. Games, 12 noon; meeting at 1.

The Friday Club of the YWCA will meet Friday at 12:30 for lunch at the YWCA. The speaker for the afternoon is Dr. David L. Crawford, Director of Students at Princeton Seminary. His subject will be "Better Than Vitamins: Humor."

Those needing a ride to the meeting should call the YWCA - 924-4825 - before 11 on Friday.

TODAY'S FASHION QUESTION

WHY must the mother of the bride wear a "mother-of-the-bride dress"?

ANSWER

She doesn't have to at all! She should wear a look and a color that compliment her AND the wedding party. And if she's budget-minded, she'll make sure it's a dress she can wear for lots of other occasions . . . without hearing, "That's her mother-of-the-bride dress!" SEE all the answers at

PEOPLE In The News

Frank S. Rollins Jr., 21, Cleveland Lane, is one of 26 employees of E.R. Squibb & Sons, Inc. selected for the company's President's Award.

The annual award, presented for the fourth time this year, honors outstanding job performance. Associated with Squibb for 29 years, Mr. Rollins is audio visual manager of the firm's Pharmaceutical Company. He received a trip to Puerto Rico, an engraved plaque and lapel pin.

Paula Gottlieb, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Gottlieb, 14 Merston Drive, is one of 49 Cornell College students who have joined the school's three women's social groups in spring pledging. The women's social groups at Cornell, located in Mount Vernon, Iowa, have no affiliation with national sororities but are designed to provide additional social life and fellowship for their members.

Andrew H. Evatt, 24 Bayard Lane, and Bruce B. Coleman, Princeton Junction, are among 332 students at Northwood Institute, Midland, Mich., named to the Dean's List for the winter term.

Mrs. Connie Wassink of Boulder, Colo., daughter of Mrs. John M. Kuhn of Princeton, has received an award for her brochures from the Colorado Press Women. Mrs. Wassink is employed by the Bureau of Land Management, Department of the Interior in Denver.

She is a graduate of Miss Fine's School and Bryn Mawr College. Following graduation, she was associated with Princeton University's Civil Engineering Soils Research.

The New Jersey Chapter of the American Marketing Association will present its first Distinguished Achievement Award to George H. Gallup of the Great Road, chairman of the board of the Gallup Organization. He will be honored for his 40 years of contributions in the field of marketing and marketing research.

The award will be presented May 1 at a dinner in the Grand Ballroom of the Robert Treat Hotel in Newark. In subsequent years, the award will bear the name of its first recipient -- "The George Gallup Annual Award for Marketing Excellence."

Dr. Gallup, whose international organization this year marks its 40th anniversary, will deliver a major address at the banquet on "The Media Vacuum."

In subsequent years Dr. Gallup will serve on a panel of distinguished representatives from industry, academe, and government to select each year's award winner. Reception and dinner tickets may be obtained by contacting Dr. Robert Pease, Rutgers University, 360 High Street, Room 421, Newark.

Edward B. Sloan won third place in the Rebecca Smith Lee Short Story Contest for his story, "Derelicts and Coffee," during Texas Christian University's 35th program in recognition of literary efforts by students and alumni. A junior English major, he is the son of Mrs. Jane T. Sloan of 17 Harriet Drive.

Patricia Benjamin, daughter of Mrs. Ethel Benjamin of 30 Southern Way, has been named to the Dean's List for the fall semester at Glassboro College. Miss Benjamin is a sophomore majoring in Early Childhood Education.

Elizabeth Reed, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Philip Reed Jr., 575 Snowden Lane, has been accepted at Centenary College for Women for the 1975-76 academic year. She is a graduate of Westfield High School, Westfield.

Mark R. Cleary, a senior at Trinity College, Hartford, Conn., has been awarded a varsity letter for the 1974-75 hockey season. Cleary, a member of the 9-8 Bantams, played left wing for Trinity and scored 21 goals and 18 assists.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph R. Cleary of the Princeton-Lawrenceville Road, Cleary is a 1971 graduate of Lawrenceville School and a Spanish and Psychology double major at Trinity. He was captain of the 1974-75 team and was awarded the Coaches Award for leadership. He also received the Gold Stick award as Trinity's high scorer.

Historian Bernard Lewis, Cleveland E. Dodge Professor of Near Eastern Studies at Princeton University, is the author of a new book, "History: Remembered, Recovered, Invented," published by Princeton University Press.

Dr. Lewis, considered by academics as the leading historian of the Near East in the English-speaking world, joined the Princeton faculty last September after heading the Department of History in the School of Oriental and African Studies, University of London. He also is a member of the School of Social Science at the Institute for Advanced Study, located in Princeton.

Herman M. Somers, 31 Scott Lane, Professor of Politics and Public Affairs at Princeton University, recently delivered the first Robert D. Eilers Memorial Lecture at the University of Pennsylvania. Dr. Somers also was one of 26 authorities in the health care field invited to participate in a conference at the University of Rochester Medical School on "Regionalization of Personal Health Services."

Haverford College, where Dr. Somers taught for 15 years prior to joining the Princeton faculty in 1963, has named him to its Board of Managers (Trustees). He served Haverford as Professor of Political Science and chairman of that department.

Six Princeton residents are attending Skidmore College in Saratoga Springs, N.Y. ADMISSIONS TESTING

Chapin School, Princeton, New Jersey, a coeducational day school (K-8) will offer admissions tests for students applying for the academic year 1975-76 at 9:00 a.m. on Saturday, April 12, 1975 at the school on Princeton Pike. Chapin School welcomes all applicants regardless of color, religion, or national origin.

Parents may receive application forms and further information by calling the school at 924-2449. Return of the proper application, along with a non-refundable $25 testing fee, will constitute registration for the test. All applicants should be registered by April 10, 1975.

Robert H. Dicke to Hold Chair in Physics Established by IBM in Memory of Einstein

A distinguished professorship honoring Albert Einstein has been established at Princeton University with a grant of $1 million from the IBM Corporation. The first incumbent will be Dr. Robert H. Dicke, a world famous physicist known particularly for his studies of the origin of the universe.

Announcement of the establishment of the endowed chair, the Albert Einstein Professorship of Science, was made jointly by Princeton's President William G. Bowen and IBM Board Chairman Frank T. Cary.

Dr. Dicke, a member of the Princeton faculty since 1946 and a former chairman of the University's Physics Department, is credited with important contributions to the development of radar and to the understanding of atomic radiation. He is perhaps best known for studies in the field of gravity and for important experimental tests of Einstein's general theory of relativity.

Dr. Einstein, until his death in 1955, was a member of the Institute for Advanced Study. There have been, since the founding of the Institute in 1930, close ties between the scholars and faculty members of the two institutions; for many years Einstein had an office in Fine Hall of the University campus.

Professor Dicke, whose appointment to the new chair will be effective July 1, was awarded the Rumford Premium of the American Academy of Arts and Sciences in 1967. He and a fellow Princeton physicist, Professor John A. Wheeler, were among nine recipients of the 1970 Medal of Science, the nation's highest award for achievement in science.

In 1973 he received the NASA Exceptional Scientific Achievement Medal in recognition of "his outstanding contributions to the success of the Apollo Moon Landing Program." In the same year the National Academy of Science gave him the Comstock Prize which is awarded once every five years for "the most important discovery or investigation" in electricity, magnetism, or radiant energy.

SCIENCE SEMINARS SET

At University. An internationally known brain researcher, Dr. Donald MacKay, will speak at Princeton University Friday, at 8 in McCosh 50. His visit will extend over two days and include three sessions.

On Friday at 4:30 in the Engineering Quadrangle, Dr. MacKay will speak as a guest of the Electrical Engineering Department of Princeton, in a Computer Sciences seminar entitled "Minds, Brains, and Artificial Intelligence." Friday evening, in a lecture co-sponsored by the C.S. Lewis Society and the University Chapel, he will address the topic of "Man in a Mechanistic Universe" with reference to his recent book, "The Clockwork Image." Saturday morning at 10 Professor MacKay will hold an open discussion in the lounge of Whig Hall.

Dr. MacKay, who is Granada Research Professor of Communication at the University of Keele in England, is the author of 16 books and numerous papers in the areas of neurophysiology, psychophysics of vision, hearing and speech, information and control theory, and automata theory and machine intelligence, as well as the relation of modern science to the Christian faith.

WILLEVER IS NAMED

West Windsor Superintendent. Richard H. Willever, presently assistant superintendent of Schools, division of secondary education, Lawrence Township, has been appointed superintendent of schools of the West Windsor-Plainsboro Regional School District. He succeeds Dr. John F. Hadden.

A resident of Pennington, Mr. Willever has served as assistant superintendent in Lawrence since 1970. Previously, he held various teaching and administrative positions in the Hopewell Valley Regional School system.

A graduate of Rider College, he holds a bachelor's degree in business administration from Rutgers University. He will assume his new position June 1.

Five-Day Program at University Will Study Causes Behind Rise of Nazism in Germany

A program that will analyze the psychological, moral and social climate that permitted Nazism will be held at Princeton University. Open to the public without charge, it will begin Saturday and run through Wednesday. Chairman Jeff Morris '78 reports the program will consist of seminars and film shows in various locations on campus.

Professor Stanley Milgram, director of the Doctoral Program in Social Psychology at CUNY; Professor Emil Fackenheim of Toronto University; and National-Book-Award-winning author, Isaiah Trunk will be among the seminar participants. Professor Milgram is scheduled to speak Monday evening at 8 in the Wilson Auditorium. Dr. Milgram, noted for his revolutionary experiments in Social Psychology, will analyze psychology of obedience to Nazi leadership.

Professor Fackenheim will deliver his lecture Tuesday at 8:30 in McCormick 101. As a survivor of Nazi persecution, a writer and a philosopher, Dr. Fackenheim will speak on the meaning of the Nazi atrocities for human conscience.

Dr. Trunk's seminar on Wednesday in the Woodrow Wilson Auditorium will deal with anti-Semitism in German society. Dr. Trunk will discuss his extensive investigation in this field as a research associate for the Institute for Jewish Research in New York.

The program will conclude with an ecumenical memorial service Wednesday night. "We selected the service to culminate the program," says co-chairman Seth Akabas '78, "because it is only in keeping our memories alive that we can prevent a recurrence of this tragedy."

In addition, two documentary films will be shown on Sunday in McCormick Hall 101, beginning at 1. The two films, "Night and Fog" and "Memorandum", depict Nazi concentration camps.

"Cabaret," starring Liza Minelli, will be shown in McCosh 10 at 8:30 and 10 Saturday night. Admission will be $1.

The program is sponsored by the B'nai B'rith Hillel Foundation at Princeton University in conjunction with the University Chapel and the Undergraduate Assembly.

LIBRARY PLANS EVENTS

For Spring Vacation. For those families spending the spring vacation close to home, the Princeton Public Library has planned programs for children during the week of April 7-11.

On Tuesday, April 8, parents and their children can stop in the children's room and work together to create some off-beat paper bag puppets. Colorful supplies and professional assistance will be available from 1-5.

On Wednesday, April 9, three new films from the Library's collection will be shown at 10:30 and again at 3:30 for children ages 4 to 12. Children under 5 must be accompanied by an adult. Tickets are available at the children's desk.

On Friday, April 11, Book Break will be held at 3:30. This program, one in a series of book talks, is open to readers between 9 and 14 years old. No registration is required.

New Association Proving That "Mentally Handicapped Child Can Make It as an Adult"

His voice was proud, even as it stuttered almost to a stop. "My father told me that a man wants to write a book about how I overcame my mental handicap."

Then with greater confidence, beaming, "I said fine, great. I never would have thought of chanting to ask for a book about my life."

The response from the 20 young adults to Glenn Rittmaster's first brief talk before them was an outburst of long applause. For two years, Glenn had been an enthusiastic member of their Buddhist chanting sect, Nichirenshosho Sokagakkai Academy (NSA), and a frequent publicizer on Nassau Street for their meetings, yet he had never before stood up to speak at a meeting.

Appreciative though they were, few of Glenn's friends knew that 20 years ago, Glenn was diagnosed as suffering from brain damage, epilepsy, and severe stuttering. His mother thought his problems would never be overcome. His father said, "We didn't concern ourselves with hope."

Now, Glenn Rittmaster is not only a member of NSA, which offers him spiritual and emotional support, he has also lived alone in his own apartment for a year and a half, a difficult transition that he accomplished, his father said, through "trial and error."

Productive Worker. More important, Glenn has worked as a staff assistant in the serials division of Firestone Library for more than seven years, receiving a mid-year salary promotion in addition to his yearly raises. Said William Reed, personnel director of Princeton University, "Glenn is a very valuable resource to us. He's a good worker, well-liked and productive."

He also cooks for himself, buys his own shirts, and attends every manner of University athletic contest. For these reasons, Arthur and Betty Rittmaster of 114 Galbraeth Drive East, can proudly say, "we are the successful parents of a successful handicapped child."

Few parents can make such an assertion. Not many even hope for success. To help remedy this lack of hope for the roughly seven million mentally retarded in the U.S., the Rittmasters decided than an organization was needed to provide the continuing daily support for thousands of the mentally handicapped.

CHAPTER PRESIDENT: Winton H. Manning heads the Princeton chapter of the Association for Advancement of the Mentally Handicapped. He is Vice-President for Higher Education and Career Programs at ETS.

In late 1973, Mr. Rittmaster quit what he called the "insanity" of Wall Street commuting to incorporate himself and a few interested friends as the Association for the Advancement of the Mentally Handicapped (AAMH). Last March, the organization opened its national office at 175 Nassau Street. It established at the same time its first chapter, serving the Princeton area, with a separate board of trustees.

Overall Support. Mr. Rittmaster's approach is simple. It is based on encouragement that a mentally handicapped child can "make it" as an adult. It is achieved through an overall system of daily support determined by a professional evaluation of what the person needs to function on a daily basis in the community.

These community support systems will be coordinated by a fulltime social worker who prepares a detailed medical, emotional, social and vocational profile of each handicapped person to insure that prospective employers, neighbors, doctors and public officials, as well as shopkeepers, know how to assist and adapt to the person's needs.

In addition to jobs, an area where other organizations have made some progress, these needs include housing, personal finances, health care and police protection. Far too often, says Mr. Rittmaster, the working handicapped have no social life or interests and little ability to cope with the demands of daily living without guidance.

With the telephone company, for example, Mr. Rittmaster arranged for the $40 security deposit to be waived on the grounds that a mental handicap created an inevitable economic handicap making such a deposit unfair. With a local clothing store, he arranged for the employees to give Glenn a limited, one-at-a-time number of choices and to see that he didn't buy a loud tie with a loud shirt.

Right to Happiness. The concept, Mr. Rittmaster explains, is "to give them the support without smothering them." The AAMH believes, as stated in its handbook, that "every individual has the normal right to personal happiness" and "to pursue his or her own potential," even if he happens to have a mental handicap.

As the Rittmasters and others observed in the AAMH handbook: "We, as parents, were in collusion with the rest of society in imposing on our mentally handicapped children a rigid stereotype of inferiority." They continued, "Why, we asked, should we arbitrarily limit their aspirations?"

The handbook also points out the gargantuan nature of the problem: "Agencies and various classes turn out more trained adults than at any time in our history; the graduates, too often, have no place to go." Police chief Michael Carnevale, a board member of the Princeton AAMH chapter, added, "The mentally handicapped have been ignored."

Hence, explained Ralph Copleman, of 293 Franklin Avenue, who has joined Mr. Rittmaster fulltime as a communications specialist, the AAMH seeks to "draw the mentally handicapped out of their shells," to do this, social attitudes of "normal" people must be changed, as a poster above Mr. Copleman's desk pleads: "My Biggest Handicap Is Your Attitude; Understand the Mentally Retarded."

'Now There's Hope.' The AAMH has drawn praise from throughout the community. Chief Carnevale said he was "amazed" with the support system concept. AAMH Board member and former president Lucy Hackney, whose daughter is handicapped, exclaimed, "it was really an answer to a prayer." Royce Flippin, also a board member, and Princeton University's director of athletics, pointed out, "there's hope now for my daughter with AAMH and Pete Trayer in town."

Mr. Trayer is the newly-hired support system coordinator for the Princeton chapter. He is already preparing support profiles on seven handicapped adults and consulting with such agencies as the Community Guidance Center, the N.J. Rehabilitation Commission, the YM-YWCA and the Corner House. Some 25 other people have requested similar assistance, as a result of only three paragraphs of publicity in TOWN TOPICS last September.

The chapter is operating on a one-year loan subsidy from the national organization, which in turn has raised money from several private trusts, private contributions and through a State Development Disabilities grant. Mr. Trayer's work is buttressed by some nine chapter committees serving each of a handicapped person's primary needs.

This support system concept already has borne fruit. Dr. Hans Priester acknowledged that the AAMH's initial work with one of his long-standing patients has represented

"genuine personal involvement." For his 19-year-old patient suffering from schizophrenia, he said that "all other programs have miserably failed." Now, he continued, "for the first time, I have become hopeful for his future in becoming part of the community."

BOOKMOBILE TO VISIT St. Paul's School. The Campus bookmobile, a 35-foot bookstore on wheels, will be stationed at St. Paul's School Wednesday, April 9, through Sunday, April 13. The visit is sponsored by St. Paul's PTA, which will retain 20 percent of all book sales. Chairman of the fundraising event is Mrs. Hospicio Garcia.

Supplied by Books Mobile Inc. of Dayton, the 280 square-foot bookmobile displays 16,000 educational paperback books of all leading publishers. The Mobile Book Fair for schools features selected titles covering all subjects from English, math, science and social studies to crafts, hobbies, sports and leisure reading, including hardcover picture books and other educationally recommended volumes for young readers.

TOWN TOPICS is delivered without charge to every home in Princeton Borough and Township and to part or all of West Windsor, Lawrence, Hopewell, Montgomery, South Brunswick and Franklin Townships and Griggstown. At all newsstands, including TOWN TOPICS office, it costs 15 cents.

EXTRA # 2

EXTRA—Princeton Savings is a mutual savings institution, owned wholly by and managed entirely for the benefit of its savers.

EXTRA #1—Pleasing Service... it's another specialty.

In this increasingly complex world it has become necessary for people to consult a specialist for help. As an example take the case of doctors. In the past a general practitioner treated everyone for all kinds of illnesses. Not so today. People now rely heavily on specialists who are trained to give expert treatment in one particular area. This is also true when looking for a mortgage. It is difficult for lending institutions that provide a variety of loans (auto, home, business, personal) to be expert in one area. However, at Princeton Savings we are experts because our only lending business is home financing. We've been expressly trained to help you finance your home within your budget. Remember, a house is probably the biggest purchase you'll ever make—be sure it is properly financed. See the specialists at Princeton Savings. We've got the money and the knowhow to best finance your new home. (Even last year, when mortgage loans were almost impossible to get, we granted almost nine million dollars in home loans.)

Tennis, Baseball, Six-Race Regatta on Lake Will Mark First Spring Sports Weekend Here

While the Weather Man may see to it that spectators are colder than they are in Baker Rink, Princeton University's spring sports season will "enjoy" its first weekend Saturday. Action at home includes six crew races on Lake Carnegie, a tennis match and a ball game.

The first event in the regatta will start at 2:15, involving the freshmen shells of the Princeton, Columbia and Marist College lightweights. The junior varsities will follow at 2:30, with the varsity boats rowing 15 minutes later.

Rutgers and Princeton will compete for the Logg Cup, the varsity race starting at 4. Freshman and junior varsity races will begin, respectively, at 3:30 and 3:45.

All races will cover 2,000 meters. Princeton's heavyweight crew will seek to retain the Logg Cup, which it won last year from the Scarlet.

Ball Team to Be Busy. Five games in seven days confront Princeton's baseball team before it begins its Eastern League schedule against Yale at New Haven on April 11. Coach Eddie Donovan's team was scheduled to open its home season at Clarke Field this Wednesday at 3 against Lafayette, with Manhattan due Friday at the same hour.

On Saturday, Colgate will be here at 2 (as will the Red Raiders' tennis team on the University Courts). A rare Sunday contest has been booked with Seton Hall at South Orange, and next Tuesday, Rutgers will come to Clarke Field.

The Tigers' Florida trip was disappointing because they finished last in a four-team field and because they rolled over the eventual winner, Tennessee, 15 to 1, in the first meeting between the two teams. The Vols recovered from that pasting to win four of their six games, with Rollins and Ohio State both 3-3 and Princeton 2-4.

After their opening 3-2 loss in the 11th inning to Rollins, the Tigers trounced Tennessee, lashing out 13 hits in seven innings, the game ending then under a tournament rule calling for the cessation of hostilities when one team is ten runs behind with only two rounds left. Junior Mark Softy coasted to the victory, allowing just four hits.

Next day, none of the canonading that had marked Princeton's attack was present, Ohio State blanking the Orange and Black, 7 to 0. On Thursday, however, Donovan found added depth for his pitching staff as sophomore Bob Tufts evened the score with Rollins by defeating the host team, 8 to 3. Catcher Kevin Plunkett's two-run homer in the first got the Tigers under way, and they wrapped up matters with a five-run fourth.

Tennessee then upset the favored Princetonians, 5-3, Captain Scott McHenry going the full nine innings but suffering from a lack of support at bat. Neil Chamberlain solidified his hold on the left field berth by hitting his second home run in five days.

Ohio State won its second from the Tigers in the final game Saturday, clobbering Softy for a 9-4 defeat. After the game, the victors warned Eddie Donovan that they had been able to steal the signs being given to his pitcher.

Inconsistency in all departments—traceable largely to lack of outdoor practice before arriving in Winter Park—plagued Princeton. Its defense went from errorless ball to five misplays in one game, its pitchers nation's best, in Baltimore Saturday and play at home the following weekend against Navy.

GOLF SEASON TO OPEN

On County Courses. The two golf clubs run by the Mercer County Park Commission, Mountain View in West Trenton, and Princeton Country Club off U.S. 1, will open their seasons on Saturday.

It will be the 18th season for Mountain View, the 11th for Princeton Country Club. As in the past, free play days will be given to all municipalities and there will be a series of public tournaments. A schedule of dates is available from the County Park Commission in Trenton.

NEW SEASON UNDER WAY

For PHS, Hun. Spring schedules in lacrosse, baseball, track and tennis at Princeton High School will begin this week, and the Hun School nine will start a 19-game schedule on Tuesday.

The PHS lacrosse team, which was scheduled to open its season this Wednesday afternoon at 2 against Fair Lawn at the PHS football field, will oppose Montclair Saturday. The game will be played in Montclair, starting at 1. After that, the Little Tiger stickmen are idle until April 14 when they will oppose Peddie in Hightstown.

The PHS baseball team and its new coach, Jim O'Neill, will be busy. Following the scheduled opener in East showed fine form on occasion only to be shelled on others, and the run-scoring went from 15 one day to zero the next. Belief is, however, that if the defense can measure up, the pitching and hitting are there for a good shot at the Eastern League title.

LACROSSE TEAM, 3-0

After North Carolina upset. Seven goals by sophomore attackman Wick Sollers were instrumental in the Princeton lacrosse team's victory over Washington and Lee by 11-7 and by 12-11 in a major upset of North Carolina at Chapel Hill. The Tar Heels were sixth ranked nationally, the Tigers 10th at the time, with the ratings due for revision.

Against North Carolina, Coach Art Robinson's team waged an uphill battle. The Orange and Black trailed, 5-2, after the opening quarter and 8-6 at the half.

By the time the final period began, they were no worse than 10-all, with the home team edging in front again before the Tigers achieved the final deadlock at 11-11. With just over a minute left, junior Rich Thomas hit from 15 feet out in the right corner, Sollers drawing credit for an assist on a pass from behind the Carolina cage.

Sollers matched his three goals Saturday with three assists, and beat the Washington and Lee goalie four times. The Generals led at the half, 5-4, and the Tigers broke away from a 6-6 tie at the end of three with a five-goal outburst in the last 15 minutes.

Hofstra at Hempstead, L.I., was on the schedule Wednesday. The Tigers will face Johns Hopkins, one of the

The Early Line: Tigers Look Like Solid Choice To Replace Penn as Ivy Basketball Champions

When Princeton's basketball team surged to victory in the National Invitation Tournament, defeating three of its four strong opponents by margins from 11 to 19 points, it immediately installed itself as a clear-cut favorite to win the Ivy title next winter.

The Tigers have not finished first in the race since the last year of the last decade, and since then, Pennsylvania has reeled off a string of six consecutive championships. There is ample reason to believe that the Quakers' string will be severed some time late in February of 1976.

While the Orange and Black was sweeping past Holy Cross, South Carolina, Oregon and Providence at Madison Square Garden, Penn entered the first round of the NCAA regionals—of all places, on its own court. Despite the major edge that such surroundings give to a team, the Quakers were defeated by Kansas State, marking the fourth year in a row that they had failed to survive their initial NCAA test.

Loss of Ron Haigler by graduation is likely to be more than Penn can survive in its battle for a seventh straight title—an achievement that would match the streak which Dartmouth achieved more than 30 years ago. Haigler, a fine 6-8 center, was too much for the rest of the league to handle last winter. When Princeton contained him in Jadwin Gym early in January, the Tigers squeaked out a 50-49 triumph, but Penn then rolled off 13 straight Ivy victories and when Princeton lost to Brown at Providence, it was all over.

Good News—And Bad. The Quakers will recover the services of John Engles, a topflight forward, after a knee injury benched him midway through the past season. They will also have a capable big man in 6-10 Henry Johnson (but one by no means in Haigler's class); all-Ivy guard John Beecroft, a solid forward in Bob Bigelow, who was named second-all-Ivy; and a good back court man to pair with Beecroft in Mark Lonetto.

That, however, is virtually all the good news. The bad news is that Haigler's shoes are too big to fill, and the Penn freshman team, for the first time in six or seven years, does not appear to offer much promising varsity material. Working against a sudden influx of manpower is last week's decision by the Ivy League presidents to continue the ban on freshman eligibility in basketball.

While Penn can quite conceivably brush past Princeton once more to win, and is under any circumstances unlikely to finish worse than second, the rest of the league does not appear likely to field a challenger who can make it anything but another two-team race. Final standings this past winter showed Brown and Harvard tied for third at 9-5, three full games back of the Tigers' 12-2 as runners-up. A figure as mediocre as 5-9 put Dartmouth atop second division, followed by Cornell at 4-10 and Columbia and Yale, who could beat virtually no one but each other, at 2-12.

Brown loses its two best players in all-Ivy Phil Brown and guard Eddie Morris. Enigmatic Harvard, which recruits good material and has a good coach in former Celtic Tom Sanders, still falls short of the excellence that Crimson teams manage in most other sports. The other four Ivies appear destined to remain in second division for another year at least, although Columbia's freshmen were the Lions' best in four years and both Dartmouth and Cornell improved this season over last.

Tigers in Cat Bird's Seat. The meteoric career of Tim van Blommestein, who rose from a little used reserve as a sophomore to an invaluable regular mid-way through his senior year, came to an end last month. But he and center Jim Flores, who was sidelined with a broken jaw in mid-February, and 6-2 Brian O'Neill, a three-year reserve, are the only seniors on the squad.

In the back court, the Tigers will have a pair of two-year lettermen whose all-around experience will make them one of the best tandems in the tough-minded East. Mickey Steuerer's total dependability and Armond Hill's frequent brilliance, which should shine more often in his senior year, are a standout pair of guards.

If Lon Ramati continues to improve at center as he did in the final month of the 1975 season, the Tigers may be able to count on the calibre of play that Andy Rimol gave them for three years from 1972-74. Barnes Hauptfuhrer and Mark Hartley are other front line veterans who return, the former a 54 percent field goal shooter who paced the team in scoring with a 14.7 average while often contributing the top performance in the Tigers' man-to-man defense.

Of the others on the NIT champion squad, only Pete "Muggsy" Molloy, the scrappy 5-10 guard figures to see action next winter. Although destined to continue in a reserve capacity because of Steuerer and Hill, Molloy's knowledge of basketball and fine ball handling will almost certainly inject him into the lineup in every game. Thus the Tigers will begin next season with all but one key player from a team which now holds the longest winning streak (13) in the nation.

From the good (17-1) freshman team, the top player figures to be Frank Sowinski, a 6-5 forward who averaged 19 points and may give Hartley a run for the open berth on the front line. Bill Omeltchenko (17.9), and Doug Snyder (12.1) will lend depth to the back court, while Bob Kleinert (13.3) and a 6-8 center, Ernie Murphy (9.7), are others who should help the varsity.

All five starters shot .500 or better for the season, in which Coach Bob Dukiet's team outscored the opposition, 90.1 to 67.2. The team lost only to Columbia, later trouncing the Lion cubs in New York, and trimmed Penn's freshmen twice. Because of travel restrictions and the fact that most of the non-Ivy foes had their best freshmen on the varsity, the mark of 17-1 does not carry quite the impact that it would have several years ago.

Brunswick, the team will oppose Lawrence Friday on the Cardinals' home diamond and then play host to Hamilton on Tuesday and Hopewell Valley on Wednesday. Starting time for all games is 3:45.

The PHS track team, coached by Marc Anderson, will get its first taste of competition Saturday when the team participates in the annual Mercer County Relays. Its first dual meet will be Monday at home against St. Anthony's. Then the team will be idle until April 21.

Coach Bill Humes' talent-laden tennis team will open up Friday against Trenton High School for a 3:45 match in Trenton. It will not resume until April 14 when it will play host to Christian Brothers Academy.

VERSATILE: Veteran Eddie Volz can catch or play any of the infield positions. He and the Princeton High School baseball team start a new season this week.

Hun Vs. Pingry. Hun, the defending prep school state champion in baseball, will open its season on the road Tuesday against Pingry and then play its home opener the next day against Girard College—one of three newcomers on the schedule. Starting time for the Girard game is 3:15.

PDS TEAMS TO OPEN

Spring Sports to Start. The baseball and lacrosse teams of Princeton Day School will both open their 1975 seasons in the coming week with high expectations of improving upon last year's .500 records.

Both teams are bolstered by large crops of returning lettermen, with a host of juniors and sophomores holding down key positions. The baseball team will meet Rutgers Prep on Tuesday, while the lacrosse players will open with Essex Catholic High School on Friday at 4:30 at home.

Pitching and defense should be much improved for this year's baseball club, which closed last season with an 8-8 record including a first-round state tournament defeat by Wardlaw.

"Our pitching should be very, very strong this year," said coach Tom DeVito. "For the first time," he continued, "we have more than one good starter," referring to the likes of co-captain Glen Russo, freshman Mike Walters, and sophomore Mark Blaxill. DeVito also has a hard-throwing reliever in his 6'5" first baseman Bill Baggett.

New Catcher Is Key. With last year's team comprised almost entirely of sophomores, DeVito was only worried about his catching slot, vacated by the transfer of Nick Brady to Hun School. Now, a transfer student, Scott Ware, who had been an all-star catcher in Japan, has approached DeVito, asking to play.

DeVito says that Ware is a fine defensive catcher with an accurate arm and good size. On top of that, John Hickling has developed into a good back-up receiver.

PDS features a double-play combination of co-captain Gary Salup, the best fielder on the team, playing second, and Frank Konstantynowicz at shortstop. DeVito describes Konstantynowicz as "one of the most natural hitters in the county," praise that is backed up by his .485 average last season.

Marcus Switches to Third. Brad Marcus, a third co-captain, has been moved to third base to give Mark Blaxill a chance to play Marcus's former right field position. When Blaxill is pitching, Chris Szuter will be in right, while Carl Spataro, a fine defensive letterman, will hold down left field.

Russo, who is also a big hitter, and Walters will alternate in center field on the days when they're not pitching. And finally, DeVito has a much-improved Baggett to dig for errant throws at first, while Steve Baker is an experienced utility infielder.

Since what was essentially the same club has improved from a 4-8 record two years ago to an 8-8 season last year, DeVito feels that the team has "a lot of experience," with its major need "to swing the bat more."

DeVito wants to play hit and run ball, with a lot of bunting and stealing, but he knows that his team will have to improve upon its preseason scrimmage showing with powerful Trenton High. In a 6-3 loss, PDS struck out 12 times, seven on called third strikes, statistics that make the hit and run a little hard to implement, even with a nine-hit attack. The opener with Rutgers Prep should be a better indicator.

Lacrosse Has 16 Lettermen. The PDS lacrosse team has 16 lettermen returning from a 6-6 squad, with co-captains Ditch Gordon and Doug Robinson, the only seniors in the group.

Coach Chuck Simpson reports that he has one of the hardest-working and closest-knit teams in years, with 35 out for the club, also a high mark.

In addition to Gordon, last year's high scorer, on attack, and Robinson as a leader on defense, Simpson has three hockey players to add strength to the offense—Tom Moore, Steve Judge, and Mark Zawadski.

Last year's goalie, junior Rich Ollson, is also returning in a position that demands experience.

After its opener with Essex Catholic, PDS will play Edison High School, also at home, next Wednesday at 4. Neither team represents as stern a challenge as some of the prep clubs to follow.

PROBLEMS TO SOLVE

For Hun in Baseball. Bill McQuade, the popular former Princeton High School baseball captain, who has compiled an outstanding record in his first three years as coach of the Hun School nine, was looking forward to the start of his fourth season with good reason.

From a team that won 13 and lost four, including a victory over Lawrenceville for the State Prep School championship and which finished in a three-way tie for first place in the Penn-Jersey League, McQuade lost only two starters. They were centerfielder Dave Pone, the leading hitter, and pitcher Dave Clark, who won nine of those 13 victories.

That was last June. Since then, the bottom has dropped out for McQuade, who will lead the Red and Black in its opener Tuesday against Pingry. The contest will be played at Pingry.

Tony Trani, co-captain elect of this year's team along with Lonnie Cathel and an All-Prep shortstop, has been lost for the season as a result of a knee operation for a torn cartilage which he suffered near the end of the basketball season. Trani would have been starting his third season. "His loss sure takes something out of the infield," said McQuade.

Outfielder Paul Soderman and pitcher Bobby McHugh transferred to Princeton High. Starter Bruce LiSoocy also along, I think we'll be transferred to another school. Joe Herrmann, number two on the pitching staff, moved to virtually everybody in the Colorado. Dennis Pone, Dave's younger brother, for the second year in a row suffered a shoulder separation.

As a consequence, McQuade welcomes back three instead of seven, must replace the entire outfield and build an effective pitching staff. Returning are Cathel, an All-Prep player who batted over .400 last year and will play second base; first baseman Jeff Petrone, a .300 hitter, and Jack Porcelli, a junior. Porcelli was one of the big surprises for McQuade last year, when as a sophomore he filled the vacancy created by the departure of the brilliant catcher Greg Rafalski and batted .250.

However, because of some promising talent up from the jayvee team and some transfer students, things are not as black for McQuade as they may seem. Up from the jayvees are Gary Baggeley, a junior outfielder "who looks good," said McQuade; Tom Summers, a pitcher-outfielder with a good arm, and sophomore Jim Cortina, an outfielder.

Among the transfer students, foremost is Ernie Barbiero, a solid (he was fullback on the Hun grid team) infielder who can also pitch and hits well. "I'm counting heavily on him," says McQuade. He is a junior.

Battle for Catcher. From Princeton Day School comes Nick Brady, where he was a catcher. He and Porcelli will battle it out for the starting backstop role. "One will go to the outfield," McQuade commented. Bob Mendelson, another transfer, is a pitcher and utility infielder, while John Cirelli is a good-hitting outfielder. He will be able to play in only half of Hun's games, however, McQuade explained, because as a post-graduate student he is ineligible to compete in league games.

Six more on the varsity squad are juniors Tom Dunn, Bob Rizzi, and Joe Kasian and sophomores Timmy Teel, Bob Kwiatoski and Pete Sciabetta. Dunn started out as an outfielder last year but finished as a pitcher; Rizzi is a third baseman, Kasian, a utility infielder.

Sciabetta is a possible replacement for Trani at short; Teel is an outfielder with "lots of ability" and Kwiatoski possesses a strong arm. He will be a candidate for the mound staff that McQuade must mold.

Presently, pitching is where Hun is most vulnerable, McQuade acknowledged. "Barbiero will start for sure but after that, it's all question marks," he said. He hopes to find a number two and three hurler from among Dunn, Sumner and Mendelson.

"If the pitching comes respectable, I think we'll be able to hold our own against virtually everybody in the league," McQuade added. "We're a big team, not a fast team."

In previous years, more often than not, Hun, a strong hitting team, simply bludgeoned its opponents into the submission. "I think hitting will be one of our strong points again this year," McQuade said, an observation that should put rival coaches on edge.

Three newcomers to the 19-game Hun schedule are Girard College, a new league member; Newark Academy, a solid team from North Jersey, and Mitchell Prep. McQuade reports that there will be no divisions in the Penn-Jersey League this year: whichever team wins the most games will be the champion.

McQuade has all those holes to fill but he is too good a coach not to have Hun near the top when the season ends.
